As Red Cross Canteen Unit Operated at Factories

Braving cold and snow, Mansfield Red Cross canteen workers had served 250 local industrial workers with a noonday meal today when they concluded a two day demonstration to obtain experience in feeding large numbers of people in minimum time. Today's demonstration was held at the Ohio Brass company where more than 100 persons were served under the direction of Mrs. W. B. Ford, Richland county Red Cross nutrition chairman. The meal yesterday was served at the Tappan Stove company with A. C. Tuttle, a canteen instructor in charge. Some of yesterday's operations are shown here. At top left Mrs. W. C. Mead is pictured preparing a beef-vegetable stew. At top right, Tappan employes file by the serving table. Below, Mrs. B. H. COUNTY TRAFFIC TOLL UP TO 3

C. H. Norris, Pedestrian Hit By Car Sunday, Succumbs of Injuries.

The death of Charles H. Norris, 59, in Mansfield General hospital last night after being struck by an automobile Sunday morning, today brought to three the number of traffic fatalities in Richland county in the first two weeks of the new year.

Mr. Norris died at 9:20 p. m. yesterday. He was unconscious when taken to the hospital and remained in a coma until death.

He was injured at 3:40 a. m. Sunday when a car driven by Herbert C. Smith, 60½ South Weldon avenue, going north on Bowman street road a mile north of Mansfield struck him while he was walking along the highway. Smith told sheriff's officers and state highway patrolmen that he didn't see any one on the road. There was a blinding snow at the time.

Lady Has Designs And They May Be O. K.--for Planes

NEW YORK —(AP)— Move your drawing board over, brother, the lady has designs.

Believing women may prove as skillful aviation engineers as they are assembly workers, the Curtiss-Wright company has selected 400 young women from 100 American colleges for a ten-month course in six engineering schools. They will be known as "cadettes."

"No glamor girls need apply," warned C. Wilson Cole, engineering personnel supervisor for the company.

Cole said the company promises the new women engineers equal pay with men and an open-minded policy concerning their retention in jobs after the war.

LONDON —(AP)— Dr. K. C. George Yeh, London director of the Chinese ministry of information, said today war supplies reaching China are "ridiculously small."

His statement was made in commenting on President Roosevelt's address to the United States congress in which he said that greater amounts were being sent by plane into China than had been carried on the Burma road, now controlled by the Japanese.

Fire-Wrecked Hartman Plant To Resume Work Within Week

While Mansfield firemen and a district fire inspector continued their investigation of the origin of the blaze which gutted the Hartman Electric company plant Tuesday night, company officials announced today that they expect to call all of the firm's 105 employes back to work next week as equipment is repaired and placed in production again.

Fire which raged most of Tuesday night caused damages estimated at $75,000 to the three-story plant at Fifth and Diamond streets. Fire Chief Charles Seeburger and three firemen were injured while battling the flames.

Since the firm was engaged in war production, army and navy officials joined city and state officers in investigating the cause of the fire which started in the furnace room shortly after most of the employes had left the plant.

Capt. L. R. Zimmerman of the fire department, acting chief in the absence of Seeburger who is confined to his home with a head injury, was examining the ruins of the plant today with a district inspector from Mt. Vernon. Chief Seeburger was injured when he fell on the ice at the scene of the fire.

Knox Newspaper Hits Naming of Minister To Australia.

CHICAGO —(INS)— The Chicago Daily News in an editorial today opposed senate ratification of President Roosevelt's appointment of Edward J. Flynn, former Democratic national chairman, as United States minister to Australia.

Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox is part owner of the Daily News and upon his appointment to the cabinet resigned as active publisher of the newspaper.

The editorial said: "In the career of Edward J. Flynn, we can find nothing, absolutely nothing, to warrant the appointment he has just received from the president to represent the United States in Australia."

Hundreds Pay Final Tribute At Rites for Chief T. M. Bell

Final tribute was paid to the exemplary life and leadership of Police Chief Thomas M. Bell at funeral services conducted at 2 p. m. Wednesday in Memorial hall. Hundreds of persons, including scores of police officers and lodge associates, passed by the bier.

Services were in charge of Rev. Grover E. Swoyer, of the First Lutheran church, and Rev. J. Campbell White, pastor of the United Presbyterian church, with which the deceased was affiliated.

Terming him a truly "consecrated man," Rev. Swoyer praised the high character and exemplary life of Mr. Bell, basing his remarks on the close personal friendship that existed between the minister and the law officer.

Rev. White explained Bible passages referring to the immediate passing of believers in Christ into the kingdom of heaven. He chose to tell the story of the thief on

NEFF GETS NEW RATIONING POST

Chief Clerk To Become Field Officer; L. E. Dillon To Be Successor.

With promotion of Nelson Neff, chief clerk of the Mansfield price control and rationing board, to the position of field organization officer of the Cleveland district, Lloyd E. Dillon will become chief clerk.

Change in the personnel will become effective Friday, Chairman C. A. Beelman, announced today.

Neff, who has served the ration board in various capacities since its earliest stages, will work under the supervision of George Sexton, district organization officer. He will inspect 13 boards, including the Mansfield board, located in these six counties Richland, Ashland, Erie, Huron, Lorain and Medina.

Dillon, a Mansfield real estate dealer, has also been connected with the ration organization for many months. Formerly a member of the automobile and bicycle rationing groups, as well as the fire panel, he has been chairman of the price control board for the past three months.

Neff will maintain his residence in Mansfield, he said.

DECISION NEAR

Bates Says He'll Decide on Chief's Post This Week.

Whether Meade K. Bates will remain on duty as Mansfield's police chief or will request a second leave of absence to return to service with the Federal Bureau of Investigation will be determined this week, Bates indicated today.

"It's questionable what I will do," said Bates, who resumed his duties here Monday after a year's leave of absence to serve with the FBI. "It depends upon conditions here and also at the bureau," he added. "I should know by this week."

Further than that Bates said he had "no comment to make."

Striking Miners Disregard WLB Demand; Tension In Anthracite Area Grows.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON—(INS)—Meeting in executive session, the War Labor board today was said to be drafting an eleventh hour warning to miners in the Pennsylvania anthracite fields where all but 2,000 of 21,000 strikers last night voted to continue their 15-day-old strike.

(By Associated Press)

WILKES-BARRE, Pa.—A split in the ranks of Pennsylvania's 19,000 striking anthracite miners developed today as 2,000 vowed to return to work immediately — passing, if necessary, through "any picket lines" formed by 10,000 who determined to disregard a War Labor Board demand and stay out."

In an atmosphere charged with tension, leaders of the 2,000, employed in two collieries, voted at a general meeting to submit their wage demands and union dues revolt to peaceful negotiations. To those voting against a truce, a spokesman for the two groups declared:

"I defy any of you to stop us from going back."

The position of 7,000 other strikers employed in four collieries was not determined in the poll. United Mine Workers leaders believed some favored returning and others were for continuing the 16-day-old wildcat walkout in spite of a War Labor Board declaration indicating the government might seize all strike-bound collieries.

Spokesmen for another 23,000 miners in the southern section of the mine region set Friday as a "deadline" for action on their demands for a day bonus over present wages estimated unofficially to average $8.50 daily.

Germans Admit Russian Tanks Break Main Axis Line In Caucasus; RAF Follows Daylight Raid With Smashing Attack on Ruhr.

(By Associated Press)

A new 50-mile retreat by Adolf Hitler's Caucasian armies was reported in Soviet dispatches today as the Russians crushed Nazi counterattacks and captured 12 more towns in their north-bound drive toward the great German base at Rostov.

Simultaneously, London heard a broadcast by the German news agency DNB admitting that Soviet tanks had broken the Axis main line in the Caucasus.

On the Stalingrad front, Russian shock troops battling to annihilate the remnants of 22 Nazi divisions trapped in the Don-Volga corridor reported they had killed 400 Germans, thrown back counterattacks and routed the invaders from 27 more dugouts and blockhouses.

A Reuters (British news agency) dispatch from Moscow said high German officers were leaving the Stalingrad area by plane to escape the Soviet death trap.

High-lighting other developments in the global war, Britain's powerful new 1943 aerial offensive hit Germany overnight for the eighth time in 11 nights, following up a thunderous daylight assault yesterday on Nazi-occupied France and Holland.

London said the RAF's big bombers unloaded 100 tons of high explosives and incendiaries in the 12-minute night raid, striking at German war foundries in the Ruhr for the third night in a row.

Once again the RAF's main target was the battered city of Essen, home of the giant Krapp armanet work. Four RAF bombers were listed as missing.

Other Allied aerial blows fell upon the Axis in North Africa, where squadrons of United Nations fliers rained havoc on the forward positions of Nazi Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's Africa Corps and blasted Axis transport convoys in Tunisia and Tripolitania.

While furious battles raged in the African skies, British headquarters announced the lull still prevailed in land fighting on the Libyan desert, with Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's 8th army gathering strength for the final 180-mile drive to Tripoli.

In Tunisia, French headquarters reported that French troops killed 10 Axis soldiers and captured others in a surprise raid on an enemy outpost at Sida Arat, 87 miles south of Tunis.

Dispatches from Allied headquarters in North Africa said the French also stormed and captured two strategic heights northwest of Kairouan, rail and highway junction town.

A Berlin broadcast acknowledged that French forces had advanced along a wide front in fighting among spurs of the Atlas mountains in central Tunisia, but asserted that Axis counterattacks on the north flank had driven them back beyond their original positions.

Italian headquarters said tank-led Allied troops failed in repeated attacks on the Tunisian front, but did not specify the locale.

DAMAGED: Lae Airport, Docks Blasted In Heavy Allied Raid

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Motor torpedo boats, dashing into battle against Japanese destroyers, damaged two and possibly a third enemy destroyer off Guadalcanal, the navy reported today. The enemy vessels presumably were attempting to carry reinforcements to Guadalcanal, but were forced to withdraw by the furious assault.

(By International News Service)

UNITED NATIONS HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA—Allied bombing attacks today smashed at the Japanese bases in the Lae-Salamaua district of New Guinea, strengthening the belief that this will be the next area of Allied offensives.

Torrential rains hampered ground action by American and Australian troops against the fragments of Japanese forces on the Sananda peninsula but Allied planes heavily bombed the strongly entrenched enemy remnants of the original invasion force of 15,000 men.

"Heavy and medium bombers, covered by a strong unit of fighter escorts, bombed airdrome and harbor installations and stores and barges at Lae," said today's communique from the headquarters of Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

"Damage was heavy and large fires were started. Supply dumps and barges along the shore were effectively strafed and a Japanese

COMBED: Reich Searched for Every Available Fighting Man

(By Associated Press)

STOCKHOLM — Faced with mounting casualties and growing demands on new fronts, the Germans are making a stern effort to mobilize every available reserve by mustering into the army men previously rejected for military service, reliable diplomatic sources said today.

A commission of high German officers, these sources declared, is touring the reich to comb out the last of the nation's manpower men previously pronounced unfit for active service for slight disabilities but who could be used as garrison troops in occupied countries or for desk work, thus releasing more able-bodied men for the front.

The Germans were said by these sources, who may not be named, to be counting on this program to yield another 2,000,000 men for the army.

Observers point out, however, that the induction of these men into the armed forces would confront Labor dictator Fritz Sauckel—already hard-pressed to find trained workers for important war industries—with a gigantic task of finding replacements in occupied lands.

Meanwhile reports in German newspapers and dispatches from Swedish correspondents in Berlin indicate that conditions are becoming harder from day to day for the people of the German home front.

More and more plants are being converted from production of goods for civilian consumption to manufacture of war materials. It was reported reliably that last fall only 20 per cent of the nation's industrial capacity was producing peace-time goods.

For a "clean game," here's an argument: "You let a man play four or five times and then you pull some dirty work. You break him and distress him. But you play straight, and he wins once in a while, so he'll come back and tell his friends."

The "unseen percentage" in all the games favors the house. A nickel of every dollar spent at roulette goes to the house—the customers don't miss it (unless they're heavy losers) but the nickels mount up. That's the "unseen percentage."

So the salesman walked around, and pretty soon he found himself in the crooked game. He was cleaned. Back at the station he met the native again. "But didn't I tell you the game was crooked?" the native said. "Sure," said the fellow, "but it was the only game in town."

TAX PROBLEMS SIDETRACKING SECURITY STUDY

Pay-as-You-Earn and Need For More Revenue Filling Congress Calendars.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Need for congressional action on immediate problems such as new taxes appeared likely to sidetrack for several months consideration of President Roosevelt's proposal for an expansion of the social security system to combat postwar economic hazards.

Chairman George (D.-Ga.) of the senate finance committee told reporters, the calendars of committees which usually handle social security matters—ways and means in the house and finance in the senate—probably would be crowded for some time with primary legislation.

In this category, he placed pay-as-you-earn tax legislation, new revenue producing measures, an increase in the $125,000,000,000 public debt limitation and expiring executive authority to make reciprocal trade agreements.

The rising tempo of the new congress also produced these developments:

1. Determination by the house naval committee to study the entire American naval program since the war began to ascertain progress made in combatting the submarine menace.

2. Mounting hopes for early lifting of the American Federation of Musicians' ban on recorded music.

3. An appeal by Rep. Colmer (D.-Miss.) for prompt action on his bill to discourage strikers and industrial slowdowns by making participants immediately subject to military service and strike leaders liable to a fine and prison term.

4. Recommendation by Senator Butler (R.-Neb.) that the United States, once victory is won, acquire "all the thousands of islands in the Pacific," and establish mighty air bases so that "any local insurrection can be stopped before it gets a start."

Four Men Kidnap Soldier, Search Army Dispatches

NORTH KINGSTON, R. I. —(AP)—Four men who held up an unarmed army dispatch rider at gunpoint and rifled through official army papers, only to return them with the remark that "It isn't here," still were at large today despite a state police dragnet.

There was no indication of what the men were seeking in their mysterious foray, nor any clue to their identity.

The men forced the soldier, Private Raymond L. Mosher of Springfield, Mass., to drive his small army truck for more than a mile, a gun at his head, to a secluded lane where they carefully examined the documents. Then they sped away in a small sedan.

State police, upon being notified of the hold-up, posted guards on all highways leading out of the area and referred the case to the Federal Bureau of Investigation office in Providence.

PIQUA —(U.P.)— Donald Houser, eight-year-old son of Clyde Houser, had no sled and the snow looked fine. He used a cardboard carton to coast down Conservancy levee.

He was unable to control the box as it slid into a street. The boy was crushed beneath the wheels of a bakery truck and died enroute to a hospital.

ASKS FAIRS BE CONTINUED IN WAR TIME TO BOOST LIVESTOCK

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS — Fairs should be continued during wartime to promote improvement of livestock and farm products, Dean John F. Cunningham of the Ohio State university college of agriculture asserted today.

He told the Ohio Farm Managers association that agricultural expositions had an important role in contributing to the "continual improvement of the type and quality of livestock and farm products.

Breeders and growers with no place to show their prize products would become as disinterested as a football team with no one to compete against, Cunningham declared.

James Arterholt, secretary of the Ashland county fair, suggested that during the war more emphasis should be placed on agricultural and livestock exhibits and less on harness horse racing.

The association's livestock group is considering a resolution asking the legislature to provide funds for livestock premiums at local and county fairs.

B. P. Sandles, state junior fair manager, told the convention yesterday that fairs were educational institutions which had "no right to quit in time of war."

"There isn't a county agricultural society that wouldn't close its fair if it would help the war effort," he said, "but they have no right to abandon fairs after 100 years of service in Ohio."

The United States Trotting association elected G. W. Rittenour director of the trotting group's district one, comprising Ohio. Rittenour is president of the trotting association.

T. A. Billingsley, state racing commission member, was named to the fair managers' resolutions committee.

FINAL DAY

Friday Deadline For Getting Supplement Gas Orders.

Friday is the last day farm and commercial truckers can obtain supplemental gasoline certificates from their county gas rationing panels, H. A. Reichel, examiner from the Canton ODT office, said today.

Beginning Saturday, commercial truckers in Richland and Ashland counties will be required to file their appeals for supplemental gas with Reichel at the Chamber of Commerce rooms in the Farmers Bank building, Mansfield.

Appeals of farm truckers will be handled by the county Farm Transportation committee at county AAA headquarters at 78½ North Diamond street.

Reichel is at the Chamber of Commerce rooms Wednesdays and Thursdays from 8:30 a. m. to 5:30 p. m. The county Farm Transportation office is open daily.

Reichel pointed out that a number of applications filed several weeks ago by truckers were filled out improperly and truckers were unable to get sufficient gasoline to carry on their business.

Appeals are submitted to the Canton ODT office and, if granted, the trucker receives a subcertificate permitting him to purchase more gasoline. Reichel said

Three-legged chicks? Yes. But a four-legged chick? Well, the Sherman Bowdens who have operated a hatchery on South Main street road for more than 40 years wouldn't have believed it before last Monday. Then, as Mrs. Bowden was looking over a new hatching she saw the unique little fowl. Two of the legs were in the expected places but the other pair had grown through the chick's breast - one protruding in front and the other out of the chick's back. In 13 years of hatching an estimated 5,000,000 chicks it is the first time the Bowdens have seen a chick with four legs. And Bowden began the hatchery business as a boy when he and his father built a home-made incubator that they heated with hot water. Mrs. Bowden will not speculate on whether the chick will live. "Twenty years ago," she says, "we had a three-legged chick but the hired man killed it. We plan to keep this one apart from the others and give it special care. Right now, at least, it has a healthy 'cheep'."

DEMAND PROBE OF BLACK MART

Two U. S. Agencies Ask For Chicago Investigation.

CHICAGO —(INS)— Two government agencies pressed for an investigation of the black market in meat in Chicago today.

A day after the office of price administration expressed concern over the situation, Donald E. Smith, assistant regional administrator of the food distribution administration, declared: "We have had reports of black market operations in meats here."

Packing house officials expressed the opinion that a large amount of the increased slaughter on farms is finding its way to black markets.

MOVE EITHER WAY APPEARS TROUBLESOME

Opposing Bill Would Rouse State's Anger; '44 Censure Seen In Favoring It.

(By International News Service)

COLUMBUS—The Bricker administration was placed on the horns of a dilemma today by an uprising in the state legislature, demanding that Ohio be placed in the central time zone and the clocks turned back to "slow time."

On the one hand, any opposition to the measure will wreak considerable havoc among the governor's tremendous personal popularity in his home state. On the other, if he accedes to the clamor and signs the time-change bill which now seems certain to pass the legislature, he may lay himself open in 1944 to charges that he failed to cooperate with the war effort.

Should he oppose the bill, even the Bricker-sponsored measure to remove the sales tax from restaurant meals and prescription medicines will fail to remove the sting to Ohioans.

The sales tax measure, which will remove all foods from the three per cent levy, is certain to be speeded to passage and signed into law. It will save Ohioans about $3,500,000 annually—but the legislators say that is just another item in comparison to the sentiment "back home" for a time change.

The governor dumped the controversial time change into the laps of the legislature when he asked them in his inaugural address to consider it solely on the basis of what will be best for the war effort. But in view of the opposition of WPB Chief Donald Nelson, who cited yearly savings in Ohio of 100,000,000 kilowatts of power, he cannot wash his hands of the matter entirely.

Bricker's power over the legislature was illustrated anew by the fact that, although the house is outspoken in its demand for a time change, it approved a resolution for delay by a voice vote. The overwhelmingly-Republican legislature does not desire to place Bricker on a spot, but neither does it wish to go against the wishes of its constituents.

Meanwhile the governor signed the partial appropriations bill, providing more than $79,000,000 for the operation of state departments for a maximum of six months or until the general appropriations bill becomes effective.

'Planning a New World' Topic of Book Fair Talk

Guest speaker at the Mansfield Public Library's third annual Book Fair, Dr. Pitman B. Potter, head of the department of political science at Oberlin college, is expected to be greeted by a diversified audience when he appears here Friday night to talk on the subject, "Planning a New World."

Although the lecture is free and open to the public, invitations have been issued by the library to scores of organizations in the city including men's luncheon clubs, civic groups, study and garden clubs. The clergy also has been invited, Miss Lois MacKellar, librarian, said.

Presented through the courtesy of the Library Memorial Board, Dr. Potter will speak in the library's Larwill room at 8:15 p. m. His subject was chosen to coincide with the theme of the fair, the United Nations. Both the Book Fair on the mezzanine and the exhibits in the John Sherman room and Garden Center will be open Friday night.

An instructor at Yale and Harvard universities during the first World war, the speaker has been at Oberlin college for the past year. Prior to that time he was associated with Brookings Institute in Washington, D. C.

Athletics Swamp Westies In City Basketball League

Sport Podge by REX HESS

Bessie Snyder of Millersburg has joined the WAACs.

Now at first glance this is not an item to stir great interest in Mansfield sport circles, but—

Bessie Snyder of Millersburg is a sister of Coach Paul Snyder of Mansfield high's football Tygers.

And Bessie can make the sports pages on her own. She's champion.

Bessie was womens tennis champion of Millersburg for so many years she got tired of the lack of competition, and took up golf.

And she's been golf champion of Millersburg women now for five years on that very tough Millersburg course, known far and wide for its nine greens, played from 18 different tees.

She's the second Holmes county girl to join the WAACs, and is now awaiting orders to report to Des Moines, Ia., or Daytona Beach, Fla.

Bessie is the owner and operator of the only photographic studio in all of Holmes county. A remarkable gal is Paul's sister Bessie.

Richland county schools that have been counting the days until tall "Doc" Poston turns in his uniform at Madison high, are finding their lesson in mathematics growing easier. It won't be long now.

"Doc" has two league games to play, at Butler tomorrow night in the game that may decide the county league championship, and against Union Jan. 22.

He'll be 20 years old Jan. 26, the day the Rams play their return game with Loudonville.

Poston thinks he should be eligible to play against Loudonville but Madison officials have ruled against him.

"Mah folks say ah was bawned at 11 o'clock at night" says Poston, "so ah won't be 20 years old until 11 o'clock at night and by that time ouah game with Loudonville will be ovah."

"That isn't the way we figure it, Doc," retorts Coach Al Fendrich. "Sorry."

"Ah cain't ondahstand it" protests the bewildered Poston.

The Rams are sorry, they're not bopstin'.
They're bound to miss that tall "Doc" Poston.

Note to Y. M. C. A. church league scorers: Referee Brownie Corcoran played at West Virginia Weslevan, not at West Virginia. There's a difference. Wesleyan and West Virgima are just the biggest rivals in the state that's all. So change it on your score sheets, please.

Ohio In Line for Harness Features

COLUMBUS (NS) T. A. Billingsley, a member of the Ohio State Racing commission today had asserted that Ohio expected to get four of the nation's top-flight harness horse races this year.

They are the Fox stakes for pacers and the Horseman stake for trotters, carrying the world's biggest purses for two-year-olds and the Futurities for three-year-olds in both divisions. The Fox and Horseman purses are to be $16,000 and $15,000 respectively, and the Futurities about $5,000 each, Billingsley said.

Billingsley head of the speed department of the Darke county fair, said the events would be held at Greenville if they come to Ohio. He disclosed the plans to bring the events to Ohio after John T. Brown, Ohio secretary of agriculture gave the speed department superintendents the "go ahead" signal at a session of the Ohio Fair Managers association convention now in session at Columbus.

WORLD WAR I WINNER

NEW LONDON, Conn.—(AP)—Although the United States Coast Guard academy did not begin playing football on an intercollegiate basis until 1922, newspaper files show that the academy had a winning team in 1917. The Cadets organized a team for a wartime benefit game and won a 7-6 victory over the U. S. S. Chicago eleven.

DiMaggio Heads for Army Duty

Yankee Clipper and Wife Kiss and Make Up.

RENO—Nev.—(AP)—Joe DiMaggio, perhaps the greatest player in the game today, is quitting baseball to join the armed forces.

Back on a love-and-kisses with his pretty wife, Dorothy, the New York Yankee batting star, the game's highest paid player, made known he would apply for some branch of the service "as soon as I can get a few things straightened out."

Joltin' Joe, son of an Italian fisherman, has been one of the Yankees top batters since 1935, when he went to the big time from the Pacific coast league San Francisco Seals. His 1942 salary was $40,000 or thereabouts.

Twice Joe has led the American league in batting, twice has been named its most valuable player. In 1940 he led the league in home runs, his specialty.

With an arm around Mrs. DiMaggio, Joe told newsmen he was enlisting shortly but would return to baseball after the war "if I can still play." He said he hadn't decided yet just what branch of the service he would ask for.

Joe's San Francisco draft board, of course, must grant him permission to enlist, under the new regulations. He is deferred, in Class 3-A because of his wife and their young son, Joseph Paul DiMaggio 3rd, 14½ months old.

Mrs. DiMaggio, the former Dorothy Arnold of the radio and screen, had been in Nevada just one day short of the required six weeks residence period for divorce when they called newsmen to the office of their attorney, Joseph Haller, and announced they had patched up their marital differences.

Arm in arm they chorused "We're very happy about it all."

Pete Reiser Dons Uniform

Becomes 15th Dodger To Enter Armed Service.

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR

NEW YORK—(AP)—Baseball fans will get their usual quota of major league games during the 1943 season, unless present plans fall through, but they may have to tour the globe for a glimpse of their favorite stars.

The baseball world still was waving goodbye to Pete Reiser, the slugging center fielder of the Brooklyn Dodgers, yesterday when Joe DiMaggio, who operates in a similar capacity for the New York Yankees, decided to follow Pistol Pete into the armed forces.

There in the service of their country, these two valuable performers who once wore the batting crowns of their respective leagues will join such diamond greats as Enos Slaughter and Johnny Beazley standouts of the last world series, Ted Williams, Hank Greenberg, Bob Feller and dozens of others.

His marital problems solved, DiMaggio announced in Reno Nev., where his wife had taken up residence for the usual reason, that "everything is straightened out," and "I'm going to try to get into the armed forces in the near future."

Reiser passed his physical examination in St. Louis earlier in the day and was accepted for service in the army.

With Reiser the Dodgers have sent 15 men into the service and are topped in the National league only by the Philadelphia Phils, who have watched 17 of their players march off to war.

In the American league the Philadelphia Athletics and Chicago White Sox boast the largest service flags each with 19 of their number in the employ of Uncle Sam.

The latest count disclosed a total of 201 major leaguers now actually in the army, navy, coast guard or marine corps, 116 of them from the American league.

In addition all the clubs have some players working in defense plants and they may not report for spring training, although the war manpower commission won't hold them to their jobs in most cases.

CARDS CHAMP SOCKERS

ST. LOUIS—(AP)—The world's champions not only had the best pitchers in the National league, but also led the sockers. The Cards were tops in team batting (.268), at bats (5,121) singles, (1,043), total bases $2,421), doubles (282), triples (69) and sacrifices (130).

Defiance Sets Scoring Mark

Rolls Up 104 Points In Beating Bluffton.

(By Associated Press)

Defiance college's cagers rolled up a new season scoring mark for Ohio collegiate basketball circles in defeating Bluffton college 104 to 39 last night, but there was little new about the performance for either Defiance or Bluffton.

The last time the two teams met a year ago the Defiance Yellow Jackets smothered Bluffton 101 to 45.

The Yellow Jackets, far superior in height to the visiting Bluffton basketeers, roared away to a 50 to 13 lead at halftime.

The victory gave Defiance a season record of four wins and three defeats. It was Bluffton's fifth straight loss.

In other games last night, Kent State bested Hiram, 42-37, in a rough and tumble contest at Kent, and Baldwin-Wallace defeated John Carroll 38 to 33 at Cleveland. It was the fifth straight victory for the B-W cagers.

Young Goalie Has Fifth Shutout

(By Associated Press)

Gordie Bell, 17 year-old netminder of the Buffalo Bisons in the American Hockey league, who is rated by his manager, Eddie Shore, as "the best goalie prospect for his age in many a year" justified his boss' claims by turning in his fifth shutout of the season last night, a 1-0 victory over the Indianapolis Capitals.

The victory preserved the western division lead for the Bisons.

In the only other contest of the evening, the Hershey Bears, Eastern half pace-setters, defeated the Pittsburgh Hornets, 4-3, in an overtime match.

By losing, Indianapolis missed an opportunity to go into a first place tie with the Bisons.

Maurice Podoloff, president of the league, announced the New Haven Eagles, cellar occupants of the Eastern division would suspend operations Monday.

Sport Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK—(AP)—The other day the University of Illinois hockey team had to call off a game with Minnesota because it had only seven players available after they had met once. It also called off the rest of its schedule. . . . Gordon Gilmore of the St. Paul Dispatch provides further information that both teams wanted to let the Illini use freshmen so the second game could be played as an "exhibition" but the Western conference faculty representative said no because of the Big Ten freshman rule. . . . Thus, Gilmore points out, caused Minnesota to waste some 17,600 man miles of transportation. It also leads us to wonder what kind of trains were meant in those high-flown speeches we've heard about the valuable "training" offered by college athletics.

Choc Hutcheson, sports editor of the Lubbock, Tex., Avalanche-Journal, asked Pfc. Thad Ricks of the South Plains Army Flying school public relations office to find out something of the ability of the Spafs Golden Gloves boxers. . . . Pfc. Ricks, 140 pounds dripping wet, decided to interview each one with 16-ounce gloves. "I'm going to judge you on how hard you hit me," he told the first . . . Next day Pfc. Ricks appeared in the sports sanctum with one black eye, one swollen cheek one split lip and assorted bruises. . . . "We've got one lightweight that's pretty good," he mumbled. "I know that. But you'll have to take the coaches' word about the rest of them."

Capt. Herbert T. Herb hit a homer with the bases full but forgot to touch first so he had to put on a burst of speed to get one base.

Two Unbeaten Teams Clash

Madison-Butler Game May Decide Title.

Two of the Richland county high school basketball league's undefeated teams clash tomorrow night when Madison's Rams invade Butler in a game that may decide the loop championship.

Lucas, also undefeated in league play, takes on Ontario at Lucas, while Shiloh plays at Plymouth. A change in schedule sends Union to Bellville for a non-league game.

The dope sheet indicates nothing less than a toss-up in the Madison-Butler battle. Madison defeated Butler in a non-league game earlier in the season, but had to go into an overtime session to do it on the Ram court.

Lucas, defeated recently by Lexington and Madison in non-league games, faces a real test in the Ontario game.

Whippets Battle Orangemen Friday

SHELBY—First of two home North Central Ohio league cage games scheduled for the Shelby Whippets in successive weeks will be played with Galion Friday night at the high school gymnasium.

Shelby by virtue of its easy win over Mt. Vernon is favored over the visiting five. Galion lost to the Yellow Jackets earlier in the season.

Both teams are tied with Mt. Vernon for third place in the league standings.

The Whippets will meet Bucyrus on Jan. 22 for the second home game and then will take to the road again.

Yunckers Win Over Steelmen

Sport Goods Stores Rule Roost For Night.

By WALLY DAVIS

SPORTING goods stores celebrated "upset night," in the Y. M. C. A. City basketball league last night as Athletic Supplies trounced Westinghouse 45 to 26, and Yuncker Sports trimmed Globe Steel 30 to 23.

The Supplies, sparked by Dick Flockenzier, the loop's high scorer, went on a 17-point rampage in the third quarter while holding the Westies to a pair of free tosses, turning a close ball game into a complete rout.

Flockenzier ran his season's scoring total to 63 points when he dropped in six buckets and two foul shots for 14 tallies.

Jim Robertson and Bob Nikolaus also turned in fine jobs for the Supplies, scoring 11 and 10 points, respectively.

The Supplies took a 10 to 5 lead in the first quarter but were outscored 9-7 in the second, cutting their lead to 17-14 at halftime.

The third frame saw one of the best displays of shooting on the Y hardwood this season. The Supplies pumped in buckets from all over the court to roll up a 34 to 16 advantage. Two foul baskets by Joe Altamonte, Globe guard, saved the losers from a shutout in this frame.

The Supplies rounded out their attack with 11 counters in the last quarter, while the Steelers regained their eye to score ten.

The victory was the first of the season for the Supplies, and although it left them still firmly entrenched in last place, it put a damper on whatever championship aspirations the Westies might have been entertaining.

Another upset occurred in the nightcap when Yunckers trimmed the fading Globe Steel five, 30-23.

Breaking a 17-all tie, the Sports tallied 13 points in the fourth quarter to cop the victory.

The two teams were missing badly in the early part of the game and both displayed some poor passing.

The first quarter ended in a 4-up tie. Yunckers scored seven points in the second to the Steelers five to lead at the half 11-9.

Dick Wade collected 14 points to lead Yunckers while Joe Altamonte had nine for Globe.

Tigers Crawl Out Of Landis Doghouse

DETROIT—(AP)—The Detroit Tigers finally got out of Commissioner K. M. Landis' doghouse today after doing a three-year stretch for irregularities in farm operations.

That's what the judge called it on Jan. 14, 1940, when he cracked down on the Tigers in a momentous decision unmatched in baseball annals that set 90 players free on any strings held by Detroit.

The commissioner fixed a three-year embargo on Detroit dealings with a dozen or more minor league affiliates involved in the decision and likewise prohibited the Tigers from making any passes at the emancipated talent. The time limit was up today.

With Hank Greenberg and 17 others in the nation's service, the Tigers could use some reinforcement, but those still in the game are well sewed up.

vas a man of seventeen, was such an expert sea- to be the logical choice Julian Hastings, Rosalie's father, when Mr. Hastings wished someone to help him sail his new white sloop from Maine to Marblehead, Mass., in September. Mr. Hastings was not coming any more to Mitchell's Island—it was too slow for Rosalie, he had explained in Hobey's hearing—too stupid for a girl her age—not enough beaux, no dances, no social life, to speak of—and so they were to change their summer residence, after this summer.

That was revealed one July day when they were fishing off the Roaring Reef—Mr. Hastings and two guests of his, in Hobey's father's boat, with Hobey sailing it as usual. They had dropped anchor in a place he knew, and now the gentlemen were fishing, and Hobey, sitting cross-legged on the stern, was shelling clams for bait. He was listening as he worked—he always listened when the summer people talked, because there was a lot to learn from them, no matter what you said. They were talking idly now about the war, and about Wilson, and about the stock market, and presently the voice of Mr. Hastings was explaining about going to Marblehead next summer instead of coming here. It was the first Hobey had heard of it.

He went on working, his hands automatic with the knife and shells. He went on squinting in the sunlight—as if the sun still shone "Too slow for Rosalie." "No social life." "Not enough beaux"—not enough fellows running after her, did that mean? How many were enough, then? She had more than you could count. They lived in almost every house along the bluff, they came in boats from other islands, they arrived with suitcases and spent a week or two—one had a yacht, even. So there were not enough of them? What would there be at Marblehead, he wondered bitterly—the whole of Massachusetts, in white pants?

But the real anguish of his heart was for the fact itself, not for the reasons He would never see her, then, after this year. She would be gone for good in four weeks more, or five at most, and that would be the end, and maybe he would never even hear of her again. Summers would be like winters, and he would not know what she was doing each day, or how she was, or how she looked, or where she went, or any of the things he watched and learned and treasured now. He would not help her in and out of boats, holding her hand, or see her diving from the springboard in her brilliant bathing suit, or hear her say in passing, "Hello, Hobey. How're you today?" Not even that which nowadays was all he had.

He would have nothing.

There was a blank in recollection between that July fishing trip and his departure from the island in September. He had forgotten the arrangements, and the anticipations — he remembered only how he went. It was a bright blue day, a fresh new morning, with a favoring wind Everybody said, "You couldn't ask for better weather" There were a lot of people down to see them off—all the remaining summer people, saying good-bye to Mr Hastings, and a fringe of hovering islanders, including Hobey's family. He remembered that. His whole ragtag and bobtail family.

Today he was magnificent with clothes. His first white shirt. His first stiff collar, hard and high and wide. The blue serge trousers of a suit that had been given him last year, and new white sneakers, and a white duck hat like Mr. Hastings' own He even had a necktie on, a dotted one, tied in a bow. He felt insufferably dressed up, but this was how it had to be, he thought He had to look as shipshape as the sloop herself, if he was going

Rosalie was there, in a blue dress. It was bewildering that she should be there, still on the island, with himself going sailing off. She was to leave tonight by train—he knew that—but it didn't seem so. It was a part of all the unreality of everything, that it should have turned out this way, with this reversal of the order of their partings of the past, now, at the very end. He could almost believe that this was not the end at all. It was as though she would be there when he got back.

Rosalie said, "Well, good-bye, Hobey. Have a good trip." She held her hand out, and he noticed it after an instant, with embarrassment, because his hand was probably wet or dirty or something — he'd been working. He wiped the palm against the blue serge of his trousers, hastily, and then shook hands. He muttered monosyllabically:

"'Bye."

"Have a good trip," said Rosalie again.

He nodded. "Aim to have."

She was smiling at him in the way she used to, beautifully, and suddenly. She had the reddest mouth for smiling, with a white heart, like a flower. She had round golden arms, capped tightly at the top with little sleeves. She had that bright brown hair, red-brown, like kelp in water with the sun on it. She was still small, and her wide eyes were still enormous in her face, and darkly gray, and there were still the ghosts of freckles where they used to be. He knew these things, though how he knew them he could not have said. He did not look at her. It had been years since he had dared Looking away, or looking down, or looking anywhere, he saw her plain. This was the way she was Remember this Keep it forever.

This was the photograph he took away with him, and kept for years. This was his favorite, for a long time Even later, among newer ones.

That was September, 1917. In Portland Harbor there were ships painted with vague and wavering stripes and swirls of blue and green and gray and muddy yellow —you could hardly see their hulls against the water from a little distance, and Mr. Hastings said that of course that was the idea. There was an enemy on the high seas. There was a war.

Hobey had heard about it from the summer people, all this summer long, and he had sometimes even read about it in the newspapers they threw away, and now he saw that it was true, all right. The proofs were everywhere There were all kinds of thin fierce boats with threatening guns in Portland harbor, and when they went ashore that evening for a while, to look around, there must have been a million sailors on the streets.

Whenever the Dionne Quintuplets catch cold—their chests, throats and backs are immediately rubbed with Musterole—a product made especially to promptly relieve coughing and tight sore aching chest muscles due to colds—it actually helps break up local congestion in the upper bronchial tract, nose and throat.

Musterole gives such wonderful results because it's what so many Doctors and Nurses call a modern counter-irritant. Since it's used on the famous "Quints"—you can be sure it's just about the BEST cold relief you can buy!

Famous American Poet Honored at Chicago Meeting

CHICAGO—(INS)—Eugene Field America's immortal poet and writer of verse of gentle culture and humor, was commemorated in a rare collection of original manuscripts gathered recently by an anonymous Chicago bibliophile and displayed at the Caxton club.

Reflecting many moods of the sharp-witted and fun-loving Field were such poems as "Little Boy Blue," "To My Mother," "Mrs Comstock's Prayer," "For Our New House," "The Fisherman," "Paternal Advice to a Certain Young Lady," and "The Pathetic Appeal of Joseph Moss Esq, to the Coquettish Miss Julia."

Included were letters, poems, greetings and articles many in dormed and delicate script, some of which were produced while the author was a Chicago newspaper man.

Charles H Dennis, editor emeritus of a Chicago newspaper where Field once worked and a contemporary of the poet, addressed the Caxton club in a review of the writer's life and works. Field came to Chicago in 1883. He died 47 years ago this month.

. . . IF you can't get all the ice cream you want— don't blame your dealer

So highly nourishing are the ingredients used in making good ice cream, that the Government wants some of them conserved for other wartime uses.

This means that we must make less of that fine Sealtest Ice Cream than formerly. So be patient with your Sealtest Dealer if he can't serve you as completely as you'd like. He's doing his best—and so are we!

Risko appeared in several post boxing bouts and assisted in physical fitness programs.

Your Federal Income Tax

NO. 10:—CARE IN PREPARATION OF RETURN

A federal income tax return is a report to the government of one's taxable income for the year. It is a statement required by law of all single persons, and all married persons not living with husband or wife, whose gross income for the year amounted to $500 or more, and of all married persons living with husband or wife throughout the taxable year, whose combined gross income for the year was $1,200 or more.

It is no longer required that returns be sworn to, but the taxpayer must make a declaration on the return that it is made under the penalties of perjury.

Income tax returns are kept on file and, under certain conditions, are subject to inspection by state officials in connection with the determination of state income tax liability, as well as by other law enforcement officers.

After a return has been filed, it is checked for accuracy by the internal revenue service, and the taxpayer may be subject to examination or inquiry relative to matters connected with the return, or his income, and he may be asked for further substantiation of statements made in the return.

It is important, therefore, that persons subject to the income tax prepare complete and accurate returns, as required, both in their own interest and in the interest of economy in the administration of the law. As an aid in accurate filing of returns, taxpayers should keep a record of income received during the year, and at the time of preparing a return they should carefully read the instructions accompanying the return form. Employes receiving statements of victory tax withheld should retain these receipts for evidence in supporting the claim for credit for victory tax withheld.

Diet Helps Girl Restore Sight After 19 Years

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa.—(INS)—A strenuous 19-year diet program designed to restore the sight of a Pittsburgh girl is beginning to show signs of success.

Dorothy Verner, 21, can now distinguish between light and dark, and at times she can see objects vaguely.

The pretty Westminster college freshman has been blind since she was stricken with "pink eye" when she was two years old, and is under care of a physician who hopes to rebuild the damaged eye tissue with a special diet.

Dorothy is pursuing a reasonably normal life on her college campus where she takes class notes in braille and later has them typed.

Majoring in music, the girl can play both the piano and saxophone by memorizing the piece of music from a braille copy and then playing the selection by familiarity with the keyboard.

LEGAL NOTICE

Ross Hazlett and Mary C. Hazlett, whose place of residence is unknown, and the unknown heirs of Ross Hazlett and Mary C. Hazlett, will take notice that Mark Mandusic filed his answer and cross petition in the case of Ross Hazlet and Mary C. Hazlett vs. the Mansfield Wrecking and Material Company et al., in the Court of Common Pleas, Richland County, Ohio, alleging that there is due him from the said Ross Hazlett and Mary C. Hazlett, on an account for labor furnished the sum of $600.00 with interest thereon from the 18th day of December, 1940.

His said account being secured by a mechanics lien on the following described real estate, situate in the Township of Madison County of Richland, and State of Ohio, being lots numbered One (1) Two (2), and Three (3), in Broadview Park Allotment in said Township of Madison. Said lien being recorded in the mechanics lien records of Richland County, Ohio, Volume 10 and page 284 on the 12th day of February, 1941.

The prayer of said answer and cross petition asks that said mechanic lien be declared a valid and subsisting first lien on the above described premises and that the court determine the priorities of the lien of all parties to said suit, that the above described real estate be sold and the proceeds of such sale be distributed among the claimants according to the priorities as the same shall be determined by the court, and for all other and proper relief.

The above named Ross Hazlett and Mary C. Hazlett plaintiffs, or their unknown heirs, are required to answer on or before the 8th day of February, 1943 or judgment will be taken against them.

ASHLAND RED CROSS CHOOSES NEW DIRECTORS

Report of Year's Activities Submitted at Annual Chapter Session.

ASHLAND — Newly-elected directors of the Ashland county chapter of the American Red Cross include Mrs. Guy C. Myers, H. M. Clark, Rev. E. A. Kirby, Rev. H. E. Andrews, Herbert Welch, Mrs. Clyde Wharton and H. E. Culbertson. The board will meet Monday for organization and general business.

The directors were elected at the annual meeting in the courthouse assembly room this week with Clark presiding as county chairman.

By-laws of the American Red Cross were adopted in order that the county organization may follow the plan of organization of the entire country, as suggested by the national headquarters. This action was taken because of the greatly increased activity of the county organization due to the war effort.

Activities reported for recent months included the making and sending of many articles for Red Cross distribution. These, according to Mrs. George Hunter, production chairman, included 90 operating gowns, 120 layettes, 2,459 sewed garments, 641 knited garments for civilian war relief and 535 knitted garments for the army and navy.

In the surgical dressing division, supervised by Mrs. Russell Hurst, 64,200 dressings were completed. Three classes have completed the nutrition course, according to Mrs. Clyde Wharton, nutrition chairman. Mrs. S. F. Jameson, home nursing chairman, reported 409 women have received home nursing certificates and two classes are now in progress in the county.

First aid courses have been completed by 686 persons and six more classes are now in progress with five additional ones to be started soon.

S. F. Jameson, chairman of the disaster committee and also county chairman of civilian defense, explained that it is planned to use the county defense disaster unit if there is need for them in connection with the Red Cross disaster committee. Representatives of the disaster committee will be in the county control center in the event of an air raid or other disaster, he explained.

2,000 VOTE TO RESUME MINING

Defy 19,000 Other Strikers Who Disregard WLB Order and Stay Off Jobs.

coal strike which committee members said threatened a fuel shortage for the armed services as well as the public.

One member of the Truman committee, Sen. Ralph O. Brewster, (R. Me.) commenting on the vote, said, "that would seem to make clearly evident the need for bringing the issues openly to public attention." Earlier, Brewster had told a New England delegation that he believed the strikers should be called before the committee to explain what difference there is between their refusal to return to work and sabotage.

The committee, headed by Sen. Harry S. Truman, (D. Mo.) meets today and will consider Brewster's suggestion.

The war labor board ordered the strikers ended and warned the strikers before last night's vote that it would exercise its powers to "fulfill its obligation to the country" unless they returned to work. Its full powers presumably would include recommending to President Roosevelt that the government take over the mines to end the threat of further fuel shortages.

Solid fuels administrator Harold L. Ickes denounced the coal strike in a radio address last night and said it "greatly aggravated" the heating problem of the eastern states, particularly New England.

If the Truman committee decides to investigate the strike, it might take simultaneous action with the war labor board. It was indicated that the board would call union officials responsible for the walkout to testify on why the board's order ending the strike was not followed. That hearing officials said, probably would come before any further action on the situation, such as taking over the mines by the government.

Sign Accord On 6-Day Week In Mines

PITTSBURGH - (AP) Complying with the government's request for a speed up in coal production, an agreement providing a six-day work week in most of the commercial coal mines in western Pennsylvania has been signed by the Western Pennsylvania Coal Operators association and the United Mine Workers of America.

Association officials said it covered all member mines in union districts 3, 4 and 5 and would affect more than 28,000 miners.

Under the voluntary extra work agreement which nullified an existing five-day week of 35 hours, all individual miners working more than 35 hours a week will receive time and one half pay.

COURT ORDERS JURY PROBE OF TRAFFIC MISHAP

Investigation To Involve State Patrolman Whose Car Hit Wagon.

ASHLAND—A grand jury investigation, scheduled tentatively for Jan. 25, of the accident last Oct. 29 in which State Highway Patrolman H. W. Sowers, Massillon, was involved, had been ordered today by Common Pleas Judge H. E. Culbertson.

The patrolman, whose car collided with a hay wagon on which several Rowsburg youngsters were riding, previously was cited on a charge of driving while under the influence of alcohol, but the charge was dropped at the request of John Harpster, father of the driver of the wagon. A number of the young people were injured.

Harpster asked for dismissal of the charges Wednesday and the request was granted by Judge Culbertson who stated that to do otherwise would place the prosecuting attorney in the difficult position of going ahead on an information where the prosecuting witness had sought dismissal.

The grand jury investigation probably will take place on the date when Sowers' trial was to have been held.

Judge Culbertson in his statement following the granting of the nolle said, "The prosecuting attorney on request of the complaining witness has asked a nolle of the information herein, but the reasons given are far from satisfactory to the court. We appreciate, however, the situation the prosecutor would be in in going ahead on an information where the prosecuting witness has asked for a dismissal.

"This case is one involving the schools, the state highway department, and infraction of the law of driving while intoxicated. Many families were involved and, in fact, it is of such a public nature that it should be a matter of grand jury investigation for the benefit of the county, state and the defendant himself and the people of this county are entitled to know the truth."

AIR DEPOT TO BE $3,000,000 BUILDING JOB

60 to 70 Per Cent of Labor to Be Drawn From City, War Department Says.

as apparent that the project ould boost Mansfield employ- ient figures—with probably more eople being employed on con- ruction than in actual operation f the depot.

It was also made clear by the ar department that the depot ould be a permanent installation nd not one that might be aban- oned after the war

C. H. Henkel, chairman of the ar industries committee of the hamber of Commerce today said e was "highly elated" to learn iat the air force depot had been cated in this area as well as at ie size of the project.

"The project is one of the type ie committee has worked stead- v to bring to this community," e said, revealing that numerous ontacts had been made with all ossible government agencies in 1 effort to obtain for Mansfield 1 industry "that would help in ie successful prosecution of the ar and also provide employment the days that follow the war's ose"

The war industries committee was established last July, after a series of articles in The News-Journal had revealed that Mansfield alone of all cities of its size in central and northcentral Ohio had not landed a major war industry, and had pointed out what establishment of such industries had done for Newark, selected as the site of a large Aluminum company of America plant, and Marion, where a large ordnance plant has been located.

John G Routzon, secretary of e Chamber of Commerce here, day expressed gratification at e award of the contract and its 'e.

"The Chamber particularly velcomes the Mansfield Air Force Supply depot project because of the employment it will ive the Mansfield building rades workmen," he said, pointng out that the building crafts ere had suffered as a result of he curtailment of ordinary construction work.

Routzon also expressed the beif that the demands for labor on e depot project would not curl in any way the war effort in ansfield either now or in the mediate future.

He said the Chamber had rked with the engineers in nging the depot project to ution and said

"It has been a real pleasure to Chamber to cooperate with the S engineers on the air depot oject."

C. W Handley, manager of the . S. Employment service, said ie Mansfield area would be able to supply the needed construction workers on the depot project, but added that "it looked" as though it would be necessary to call on older men and women to replace younger people in the less essential war jobs.

Handley revealed that a large number of Mansfielders now working outside the city were returning to the city, having been assured of work here

At the first of the year, a survey conducted by the Manufacturers club of the Chamber of Commerce developed figures showing that employment in Mansfield plants was expected to increase by 4 500 by the end of 1943

Capt. Shaw announced yesterday that two contracts had been let already Both went to the J C O Connor company of Fort Wayne Ind, low bidders on the grading drainage and roadway construction, and also on a contract calling for the building of a railroad siding to the site.

Army officers in charge of the work, members of the engineer corps, are at present operating from office space in the Shelby postoffice

All construction work will be in charge of the Huntington, W Va district office of the army engineers corps

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, THURSDAY JANUARY 11, 1943.

Cheerful thought—Only ten more weeks of winter.

Sacrificing down to $25,000 a year is a hardship many people would enjoy trying to endure cheerfully.

Near approach to "eating your cake and still having it" would be wage increases sufficient to meet all tax obligations.

Guard Against Fire Causes

CAUSE of the disastrous fire which resulted in extensive damage to the Hartman Electric company's plant Tuesday night, may or may not be disclosed by investigations being made.

Now that the damage has been done, however, a point of immediate importance is to arouse keener realization on the part of everyone that such things can happen, and that no exercise of vigilance is too great to be justified in guarding against potential causes of either industrial, business or residential fires.

Mansfield in the past has experienced so many costly fires that there has been a public inclination to accept such disasters as unavoidable, yet national records show that fire losses can be greatly reduced by proper precautions.

Fires occurring in plants engaged in producing war materials are especially unfortunate at this time and it is gratifying to learn that quickest possible action is to be taken in restoring the Hartman company to production and that this fine organization will continue on Mansfield's industrial roster.

Soldiers Will Not Excuse Strikes

WHENEVER opportunity is given for a man in the armed services to express his views about workers who conspire to strike, and thus either directly or indirectly retard production of war materials or supplies, those views are hotly against the attitude of strikers.

A lieutenant of marines, now at his home in Cleveland recuperating from wounds sustained in the Solomon Islands, complains about strikes and says that if men on front lines were transferred home for a spell they would tell strikers, "Get to work—or else."

Gains made by labor in the United States during the past half century have been largely due to favorable public attitude toward the legitimate purposes of organized minorities and further advances are most likely to be made along lines which gain majority sanction.

After the war there will be a return to civilian pursuits of millions who are now in the armed services and whose impression of labor organizations will be largely influenced by actions on the home front during the war—while these millions were undergoing hardships, sacrificing comforts and risking their lives on battle fronts . . . and seeing some of their comrades die.

An opinion issued yesterday by the War Labor Board holds a warning that American soldiers on the world's battlefronts will not accept any excuses for strikes.

The opinion said: "No combination of words, no rationalized alibis, no pleas of provocation and extenuating circumstances can be, will be or should be accepted by our fighting forces as justifying work stoppages . . . these soldiers are fighting and dying so that labor in America may remain free."

That puts it frankly and sternly—ANY strike that retards the national war effort, or interferes with persons engaged in war work, whether inspired by ignorance, dissatisfaction or malicious intent, amounts to the same thing as giving direct aid to the enemy . . . and will not long be tolerated by either our fighting men or by those who have a sincere interest in even a single one of those fighting men.

Reasons for Tire Inspection

THERE WILL probably be some inclination to question the advisability of repealing the OPA regulation requiring inspection of automobile tires, as called for in a resolution introduced by Congressman McGregor, of this district.

It cannot be denied that even under peace-time conditions, with an abundance of rubber, defective tires were responsible for many traffic accidents, and that "flats" caused irreparable damage to a limitless number of tires that might have been repaired if they had been inspected in time and defects detected.

Now, if there is such great need for rubber conservation as is represented by the government, it is important that tire defects and weaknesses be disclosed and corrected, and this cannot be done without at least occasional inspection by qualified persons.

Reasons presented by Congresman McGregor in support of his contention do not appear to weigh as heavily as arguments favorable to retention of the inspection requirement.

Profitable Nazi Rackets

WHETHER they can afford it or not, the average German family has bought a copy of Hitler's masterpiece, "Mein Kampf." A copy prominently displayed on the library table may preserve the family from the unwelcome attentions of the Gestapo. The royalties have already brought Hitler millions.

This seems to have put ideas into the head of Himmler, the Gestapo head. He announces that henceforth only pictures of himself made by his personal photographer may be sold. While their sale is not, as far as announced, compulsory, most Germans know on which side their bread is buttered.

This racket recalls some of the crude stuff of the Tweed ring and other American grafters. The difference is that, in all but a few places, we have worked away from such corruptionists, while the Germans have installed them at the very head of their government.

Three hundred Kansas communities are said to be without barber service—which seems to restore hair cuttings as an almost forgotten branch of home work.

Passing around: "The meat shortage makes it difficult for the butcher to suet his customers"—with the wurst yet to come.

It takes all kinds of people to make a world—which may account for Tommy Manville.

This is also the first war that required as many bookkeepers as soldiers.

It should be no trouble, by this time, to write it "1943."

Hitler Tries to Stave Off Invasion, Battes for Time In North Africa

—By LOUIS F. KEEMLE

THE CAMPAIGN in North Africa has developed into a war of position, with Hitler laying the groundwork for a delaying action to postpone as long as posible the day when the Axis will be driven out of Africa.

Criticism of the failure of the Allies to push ahead for a quick decision is answered by the fact that the weather during the rainy season makes large-scale ground operations impracticable. Tanks are not able to operate to any great extent and supply columns must stick to the narrow roads.

What the Allies at present are trying to do is to gain control of the mountain passes in eastern Tunisia in limited operations. Control of the passes will be of great advantage to the side which holds them when the major battle comes. Also, if the Allies get possession of them, they may be able to prevent a junction of Marshal Erwin Rommel's forces in Tripolitania with those of Col Gen. Hans Arnim in Tunisia.

It is almost a foregone conclusion that Rommel will have to abandon Tripoli and try to retreat along the narrow coastal strip which at present affords him tenuous contact with the forces in Tunisia.

Rommel is hard pressed from the east by the British Eighth army. There is a lesser menace, but none the less a menace, in the Fighting French forces of Brig. Gen. Jacques Leclerc, pushing northward against his flank from Murzuk in the Libyan desert.

EVEN if the two Axis forces are joined for a last stand in Tunisia, it is doubtful if Hitler expects to hold indefinitely against the British, American and French armies which are expanding at a rate he cannot hope to match.

Nevertheless, he is reported to have landed 70,000 reinforcements into Tunisia, a force which can hold for a long time, particularly since the rainy season does not end until March.

Hitler's object in Africa is to fold out to the last ditch so that he can mend his fences in southern Europe and the Balkans against the day of invasion.

Hitler's problem is to prepare against an Allied invasion at any point along an exposed coast line from southern France to the Balkans. The Allies could strike through France, Sicily, central Italy, Jugoslavia or Greece.

Hitler's concern is manifested by his recent conferences with leaders of southeastern Europe. He has just had Ion Antonescu, Rumanian dictator, on the carpet. Previously he talked with the Bulgarian war minister and is to confer with Hungarian leaders.

Hitler is desperately seeking manpower, which the weakened vassal states are unwilling to furnish. He also doubtless is worried by the spreading unrest in those countries, caused by the growing food shortage and the slaughter of its men on the battlefield on behalf of Germany.

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Sunday, Jan. 14, 1923.

R. B. Merryman manager of the Brownell shoe store, returned from Chicago where he attended retailers' convention.

Mrs. L. W. Blackman, 26 South Walnut street, died.

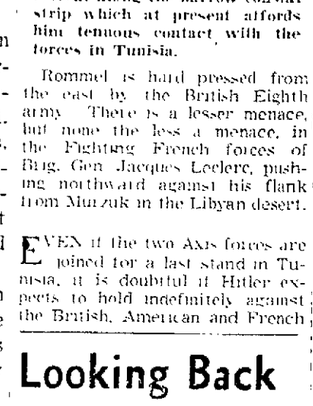
W. H. Robuck, West Third street, missed communion service at Presbyterian church for first time in 10 years, because of illness.

Daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Fred S. Lewis, 151 West Third street.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Speck arrived from Roumania to make their home with Mr. and Mrs. Anton Mauer, Third avenue.

Mrs. Catherine A. Long, 69, died.

LIFE'S LIKE THAT



"I've given up women for the duration . . . it's too hard on the morale to be broke all the time."

Dave Boone Says:

WELL, I see Ex Senator Prentiss Brown has had that nomination to succeed Leon Henderson, as OPA chief for 48 hours and ain't asked for a full pardon or a commutation of sentence yet. He must be a stout fellow if there ever was one.

* * *

James Caesar Petrillo, the Musician's union boss, whose ban on radio recordings has stirred the country, says that if President Roosevelt asks him to lift the ban he will do it. Whether he's taking any chances in an offer like that is something in which your guess is as good as mine, mister.

* * *

As further evidence of the theory held by some OPA officials that any American is presumed to be crooked until he proves he ain't, I give you the ruling in answer to a man who put his car up three months ago and asked if he would have to take it off the jacks and drive it in for tire inspection. The answer was, "Yes, or else turn in your gas ration book."

Now, unless a man is a crook he won't use his gas ration book with his car laid up.

There's a report that Mayor La Guardia of New York is going to be named a "Roving U. S. Ambassador" in Africa. That's the first hint I've had that a firm stand in the matter of bingo, pinball games, and horse race betting would help win the war over there.

Health And Diet

Test of Vaccines To Avoid Colds.

—By DR. CLENDENING

HERE we are in the common cold season again and we may expect, if former years are a criterion, that 50 million Americans will come down for a few days with more or less disability from this cause. We hear health propagandists say, "Avoid the common cold so you will not lose any days from the war effort," but they do not tell, unfortunately, just what means to take to do this avoiding.

If anybody wants to know the full wisdom that I have acquired in over half a century of contact with the common cold and would like to ask me how to prevent it and how to treat it, I can reply in three words, to wit: "I don't know."

Cold Vaccines.

The use of cold vaccines may do some good, but I don't see how we are going to obtain a vaccine when we don't know anything about the germ that causes the cold.

Curiously enough, the use of vaccines by mouth seems to be somewhat more successful than the use of cold vaccines given hypodermically; it certainly makes the process simpler.

There are several cold vaccines which can be taken by mouth which can be obtained from a pharmacist. Reports on a large number of people using these vaccines have been made for several winters. In one winter 500 persons were selected and cold vaccines given by mouth; 560 controls were used who got no cold vaccine by mouth. Following them through the whole winter, it was found that there was about a 45 per cent decrease in the number of colds in the individuals who took the vaccine.

Another Group Study.

Another study shows that in a group of 11 people who were followed for 3 years as to the actual number of colds they had, there were 61 colds. In a year in which all of them took the cold vaccine by mouth, only 2 colds occurred in the group—a decrease of 96.7 per cent. This may be a little optimistic, but at least taking the vaccine will do no harm.

After you have a cold, I don't know of anything that is calculated to do you any good except to go home and go to bed and stay there for at least 24 to 48 hours. The old-fashioned remedies are just as good as any, such as a mustard foot bath and hartshorn liniment rubbed on the chest and a glass of hot lemonade after you get to bed.

Home Fronts and Global Strategy

Allied Problems Behind Lines; Civilian Organization Essential

—By HERBERT HOOVER

(This is the fourth in a series of six articles by Mr. Hoover.)

WHEN Russia was invaded she dropped the mental garments of communist internationalism and took on the fighting armor of nationalism. The Rusian people rose as of old to defend the soil of Holy Russia. She still holds fast, after the loss of probably 5,000,000 soldiers, 70,000,000 of her population, with a considerable part of her industries and food sources. It is a magnificent defense by a people of unlimited courage. And now she bids fair not only to hold her segment of the ring but to even strike telling blows. From her untapped man power and her vast hinterlands, she will still be formidable in 1943.

Herbert Hoover

Russia will suffer greatly on the home front. But with the spirit of nationalism reawakened, with the furious hates against an enemy on her own soil cruelly butchering her people, she will keep fighting. But she will need help in food, clothing and arms.

China's Home Front.

I have lived in China in years gone by. It is only in the last 25 years that she has developed a national spirit of independence. That spirit has been fiercely inflamed by the invasion of her soil and barbaric treatment of her people.

The living standards of the great mass of Chinese are always at bare subsistence level. Famine is the experience of every Chinese village. At present she cannot be reached with much-needed supplies of food or arms. Yet she holds half of her hinterland from the Japanese.

When we try to assess China's spirit, we must remember that Asiatic peoples are less sensitive to death and more stoic in misery than the Western people. The spiritual strength of their home front seems strong, but every possible help must be given to lessen her sufferings.

The British Home Front.

For three years the British have made magnificent defensive war. They have lost many battles on the military front. Yet, with a nucleus of 65,000,000 white population, they have held their empire of a half a billion people intact except for Burma, Malaya and the Chinese cities.

The battle of Britain was the greatest home-front battle of history. They won by the greatest display of organization, magnificent courage and fortitude on the part of a civilian population that has ever been witnessed.

The people on the home front in Britain are the great heroes of this war. Despite air destruction they have reached the highest point in their industrial production.

In a military way the British Isles are now apparently safe from invasion by land. German tanks will never see Trafalgar Square. Her industries are turning out proportionately more materials than ours.

Britain's greatest problem is the submarine. Her survival on the home front depends upon convoys of materials and food from the United States. If her civil population can be protected from a degree of privation which might undermine its physical strength, they will fight endlessly. There can be no question of their determined spirit.

The American Home Front.

On our home front we are in a more favored position than our Allies in one great particular. The airplane has rendered the Atlantic and Pacific oceans wider instead of narrower. No effective sea attack against the Western hemisphere is now possible against adequate land based planes and our navy. We need have no fear that enemy armies will march through the United States in this war. If we hold our outlying bases we do not need to fear the destruction of systematic air attacks. While we are discommoded, we do not need fear being starved out by submarine blockade.

Our task on the home front is different from that of any other nation in the war. We must not only raise large military forces, equip them and transport them overseas but we have an enormous further burden. We must furnish finance, food and munitions to the other United Nations. We must do this in the face of the Axis submarines blockade and the Japanese conquests, which reduce our normal supplies of many commodities from overseas. And we must support our civil population in such a fashion that their physical strength and spirit are not exhausted.

If we are to perform these tasks so as to get this war over without delay, we have no margins for the waste of blunders or mismanagement on our home front.

Our job is production, production and more production. And it is production of planes, ships and arms, and food right now, if the United Nations are to aggressively tighten the rings around the European and Asiatic Axis, and if we are to compel their continuing internal degeneration by effective attrition.

We could wish for better conduct and organization of our civilian front.

Our fighting forces have availed themselves of every experience and every lesson from World War I in building their organization. But these experiences and these lessons have been largely ignored and even repudiated on our civilian front.

All nations in that war, Britain, France, the United States, and even Germany—had to pioneer the way to total civilian organization. In the end, they all arrived at certain common principles of organization. Our initial and continuing mistake in this war was ignoring this experience and these principles. Only in the past few months has their validity been recognized and only yet partially adopted.

Watching Trends

—By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON— Since no government agency, official, or even off-the-record observer can come close to answering this question, it might be worth stating: Why, in the name of common sense, hasn't the Census Bureau been given the responsibility for handling the deluge of questionnaires which have, as a result of the war effort, flooded big business, little business and individuals?

The biggest home front noise in Washington today is being made about this questionnaire inundation. The Baltimore Sun recently uncovered a new high in the questionnaire tide when it reported that a Washingtn department store had on hand a 13,400 page pile of OPA regulations, directives and questions, involving more than 11,000,00 words of legalistic language.

ONE case illustrates my original question. Several agencies (OPA, The Rubber Administration and ODT) had to know something about the tire situation in the country. Questionnaires were printed.

Then some bright clerk in the Budget Bureau asked why this information wasn't available at the rubber division of the Department of Commerce. A check proved that it was. Where did the facts and figures come from? The Census Bureau.

WHEN the Census Bureau was steaming up for the 1940 census, I spent many hours hobnobbing with the men who were to make analyses of that checkup. They had "facts" on everything under the sun: birth rate, employment, machine tools, farm labor, car ownership, factory production, food consumption and a thousand other things.

Now, they said, on a basis of trends, the 1940 census should show thus and so. The margin of error (in spite of depressions, the outbreak of World War II in Europe, etc.) was never more than a scant few per cent — in most instances less than one per cent. On most important facts, the Census Bureau would have no greater margin of error today.

The Census Bureau, as a fact-finding organization, has no political axe to grind. A full-time Bureau organization (it still would number thousands of employes less than during census years) could gather all the facts that have to be known in prosecuting the war effort in one-tenth the time used by the questionnaire method and, having the contacts constantly at their finger tips, could also disseminate regulations.

Timely Editorial

Strikes That Hurt.

The halting of work in the anthracite coal mines in the midst of winter is not the only instance of a breakdown of the no-strike pledge for the duration of the war. There have been numerous other stoppeges in war plants and elsewhere. It is idle and beside the point to contend that these constitute but an extremely small percentage of the total employed. For whatever the percentage it is too large.

In no instance can the seriousness of a tie-up be gauged solely by the number of men involved, although the total in the anthracite strike has mounted to 24,000 workers. It is the effect on industry as a whole that counts. In the anthracite mine case the strongest condemnation has come from the administration itself.

What has been demonstrated again is an apparent inability of union officials to control their own men.—Kansas City Times.

A Farmer's Diary

'Bowleg Ridge'

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

DOWN in the hill country, I saw an interesting and appalling sight. A house was perched upon a rise with a drive that led down the dusty ridge and a rickety porch where three children stared at passersby with wide eyes. I stopped my car, got out, and monkeyed with the hood, observing that the three children came down the path toward me — observing, too, that all three were noticeably deformed.

The oldest, a small girl who might have been ten or even twelve, asked shrilly, "Is something the matter? Won't your car make the grade?"

"I'm afraid it needs a little water," I told her. "Could your mother lend me something to carry it in?"

"Yeah. Sam, go get the old teakettle. Fill it up at the spring and bring it to the man."

One little boy made off up the hill. The other stared, then waddled after him.

"Have you any other brothers and sisters?" I wondered.

"Yes—two more, littler'n these."

"Do they walk like these two?"

"If it's the bowlegs you mean, they've all got 'em," she said, flushing a little. "The baby is nigh 18 months, and can't walk at all hardly."

"What makes it, do you suppose?"

"I heard Pap say that grandpa used to be bowleggeder than any of us. He lived here on Bowleg Ridge his full lifetime, until he died."

"Bowleg Ridge?" I smiled.

"That's what they call it," she giggled. "Why, believe it or not, even the horses and cows that are raised up around here are bowed, behind and in front. Ma says she could allus tell anyone who'd been born and raised up on this here ridge—Ma ain't bowlegged. She come from down the river."

At that instant the little boys returned with the water for my radiator. I found two apples, and gave them to the boys — who munched avidly. I poured in the water, and drove on. Not for some years did I think of the incident again. Then, in the newest bulletin on conservation, published by the Ohio department of education, I saw the other day an illustration that brought to mind "Bowleg Ridge."

"Deficiency in vital food elements is widespread among our school children," says Dr. Jonathan Forman. (Ohio State Medical Journal, Columbus, O.) in this bulletin. "This has been brought about by our insistence upon overrefining our foodstuffs and the depletion of our soils of their essential minerals through bad farming practices."

(In my mind's eye, I saw the gullied clearings of Bowleg ridge.) "Too many of us think of health as a condition that merely keep us out of a physician's office. True health isn't that at all," goes on Dr. Forman. "It is a condition of the human body in which there is joy of living, buoyancy, robustness—health plus . . . we must pay more attention, in schools, to eating for health."

The plan is made — Governor John W. Bricker of Ohio, has set his signature to this statement—"We must do all within our power to stimulate a public interest in the preservation of our God-given inheritance of soil, water, forests, minerals, and wild life. One of the greatest problems of today is the relationship between man and the land on which he lives. It is good to know that Ohio has taken an important step in the march of progress in the conservation movement in America!"

WEDDING SOLEMNIZED IN FORT SILL CHAPEL

Miss Betty Strother Becomes Bride of Lieut. Robert P. Bovard In Impressive Ceremony Saturday Evening.

THE BEAUTIFUL and historic Old Post Chapel at Fort Sill, Okla., was chosen by Miss Betty Jeanne Strother as the scene of her wedding to Lieut. Robert Patterson Bovard, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Paul Bovard, 691 Woodland road, Saturday, Jan. 9.

Major M. U. Lively of the chaplains corps of the U. S. Army read the impressive ceremony at 7:30 p. m. before an altar banked with palms and smilax and beauty baskets of white chrysanthemums and carnations. Lighted tapers in two seven-branch candelabra furnished the only illumination.

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, D. G. Strother.

Miss Strother was attired in a lovely white satin gown, styled with a long fitted bodice which buttoned down the back with tiny covered buttons, and a sweetheart neckline. The long sleeves ended in points over her hands. The extremely full skirt of the gown extended into a long train. Her fingertip veil of bridal illusion was attached to a halo of pearlized orange blossoms. The only jewelry worn by the bride was a single strand of pearls. She carried a lace handkerchief, which her matron of honor had carried at her wedding last August. The bridal bouquet was of white Ophelia roses.

Miss Kay Strother of Cleveland, only sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a floor length gown of minuet blue taffeta with matching Juliet cap and shoulder length veil. She carried a bouquet of pink roses. Matron of honor was Mrs. Harry H. Hoiles of Lawton, Okla., close friend of both Miss Strother and Mr. Bovard, and a niece of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Sanford of Mansfield. Mrs Hoiles was attired in a moire ivory taffeta gown, trimmed with gold sequins. She wore a matching Juliet cap. Her bouquet was of pink carnations.

First Lieut. John E Bird, of Bradford, Pa., former army classmate of the bridegroom, served as best man.

Mrs. D. G Strother attended her daughter's wedding in a light blue dress with purple and black accessories. Mrs. Bovard was attired in a black dress with jet bead trimming and black accessories. Both wore corsages of gardenias.

The organist included "I Love You Truly," "Ave Maria" and "Ah! Sweet Mystery of Life" in his program. "Wedding March" from "Lohengrin" by Wagner was played as the processional and Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" as the recessional.

Lieut. and Mrs Bovard held a brief reception at the chapel immediately after the ceremony. A buffet supper was given for the immediate families and close friends of the newlyweds at the home of Lieut. and Mrs Harry H. Hoiles in Lawton. Lieut Hoiles is a former Mansfielder, now stationed at Fort Sill.

The table, which was covered with a hand-crocheted cloth, was centered with a beautiful two-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature army officer and bride.

The former Miss Strother is the daughter of Mr and Mrs. D. G Strother, 207 North Union street, Galion. A graduate of Galion high school and Miami university, she is a member of Delta Gamma, national sorority; American Association of University Women, and the Ohio Newspaper Women's association. Before her marriage she was employed as society editor of the Mansfield News-Journal.

Lieut. Bovard is a graduate of Mansfield Senior high school and Ohio Wesleyan university. He is affiliated with Alpha Tau Omega, national social fraternity. At present he is stationed with the field artillery in Fort Sill. He was formerly associated with the Proctor and Gamble company of Cincinnati.

Lieut and Mrs Bovard will reside in Lawton, Okla.

Out-of-town guests included Mr and Mrs D. G Strother of Galion and Miss Kay Strother, of Cleveland, parents and sister of the bride and Mr and Mrs W Paul Bovard of Mansfield, parents of the bridegroom.

a young man of 30 years, in love with a young lady bout a year ago I've told 'are for her, but we have 'kidding" each other so hat neither one of us believes the other. And when I say I love her, she laughs and says I must be joking.

We see each other on an average of twice a week and I think of her constantly. She has a friend in the army, and I presume thoughts of him keep her from getting serious with me. Do you think I ought to forget her, or try to win her from him?

It seems to me you are making out very well with this young lady. She must have some interest in you are she wouldn't consent to see you so often As for the army man, why do you think she's serious about him? Most girls like to have two strings to their bow And sometimes one of them is imaginary.

Exercise Good for Figure

By MME. QUI VIVE

Resting against soft cushions never improved a woman's shape. The lady who has taken on avoirdupois should pondor on that subject. We're not saying that all plumpies are lazy Far from it. Such a statement would bring a shower of bricks our way We're taking no chances Many of them are busy bees hustling all the time. But their musculatures are not what they should be or they would not serve as tenements for fat cells.

Muscles like to work and play; that keeps them strong. Give them a daily workout and they telephone inspiring greetings to the whole physical works. They order the digestive motors to carry on normally. They keep the blood streams on the leap. Active circulation means more to the complexion than anything else.

Exercise chases away grouches. When you are in the dumps, you can pull yourself out by taking a brisk walk, having a cold shower afterwards and a rubdown. All fit and line to face anything

Many a woman has discovered that hard work will put her in a happier frame of mind, manual labor, I mean, like washing woodwork, or cleaning kitchen cabinets.

Idle women who live in hotels, take no exercise, have no work to do, grow old before their time. They are not living useful lives They are bored. Thousands of them are doing that right now, despite the multitude of services that can be rendered Uncle Sam in his war efforts. It's all wrong Every shoulder should be at the wheel There is no job less zestful than killing time. Time killers show up faces that are shadowed with discontent.

Oftimes the business girl is lacking in an understanding of the need of exercise and fresh air. She sits all day at a desk, gradually acquiring a middle-aged spread. Let her join a gym class, go at least once a week to give her muscles a break Ten minutes can be spared every morning for stretching, torso twisting, bending, arm swinging. That's the way to hang onto the slender silhouette. It's worth it.

She can use a jumping rope. That's a simple exercise, one that staves off fatted calves and thickened thighs. It's fun, too We wouldn't recommend it to the middle-aged, but any woman under forty will be benefitted by it

If the waist has expanded, throw the contents of the button box on the floor. Pick up the buttons, one by one. Keep the legs rigid, bend at the hips, not at the waist. Lift right hand high, bend, pick up the button, and repeat Good for a lot of things that may ail you

Pitfalls of Love

(A sequel to Marriage Meddlers)
By ADELE GARRISON

I opened my lips to warn Redfield that if he shouted at Mary again he must leave, but closed them again, for Mary was speaking. Her brilliant eyes, with a touch of malice in them, and the alertness of her face and figure, showed me that she, was fully capable of dealing with her excited leading man.

"Just a minute, Big Boy," she said, "I warn you right now to cut out the yelling, or I'll go back into the other room and let Aunt Madge and Mr. Winters ease you out of here If you can tune down the bray, I'm willing to listen to whatever you have to tell me or ask me, and I may be able to turn a flashlight on your problem, whatever it is But don't you start any funny business"

Steve glared at her, but noted the stone wall of her determination and surrendered His face was still contorted with anger, but now his voice was low, if not controlled.

"What I'm asking you," he said, with a suppressed fury more terrifying than open storming, "is to use your influence with old Veritzen, so that he'll let me go on tonight"

"Just like that I suppose," Mary said, snapping her fingers and making the gesture airily fetching "Haven't you learned yet that the old Medes would have hung their heads in shame at being outclassed, if the papa-in-law had been around their bailiwick? I never knew him to rescind any decision once he had put himself on record

"That isn't saying, however that a miracle couldn't happen" she went on, trying to ease Steve's tension so that he would listen quietly.

"But before anything else, Steve, I've got to know just what happened between you and Papa Veritzen. I gave him your message and he said he'd get in touch with you Then he made that comment about your not being well enough to go on tonight But I have not seen him since Suppose you tell me everything you and he said then I can get an idea of the set up"

Steve's throat muscles contracted as if he were swallowing a bitter dose and the anger in his contorted face deepened I was sure that if he had been alone with Mary he would have broken out dangerously. But he kept his voice low, although raucous with repressed rage, as he began his recital.

"You gave him the message all right," he said, "but you didn't trouble to use any of the trimmings that you could have tacked on to it, for the old man was so mad he didn't know which way he was headed .

"Oh, he didn't storm at me," he went on, his eyes filled with venom, "he was simply icy cold, and so insulting I had all I could do to keep from socking him. I had to remember that he was an old man," he concluded, with a virtuous air that gave me a wild desire to laugh, which I repressed But Mary did not try to hide her twitching lips

"That was noble of you, Steve," she murmured, adding quickly, before he could decide whether she was gibing at him "please tell me exactly what he said"

"He didn't use many words," Steve said. "First he said I had committed a grave breach of regulations in sending him a message through you or any other member of the cast, said I should have communicated with him in person if able to leave my apartment, by mail, telegram or telephone if I could not get away"

"That is one of his inflexible rules Steve," Mary said. "I'm surprised that he got in touch with you at all Did he telephone you, or come over in person?"

"He came to the apartment to which Milner had taken me," Steve answered, and a savage gleam came into his eyes

"I'll get even with him sometime," he said. "He bawled me out before Milner, and he didn't pull any punches, either."

MANUFACTURING ENTRIES

Lack of sufficient entries in high cards need not always be embarrassing. There are ways of manufacturing them—by apparently sacrificing some valuable honor, by playing the low cards of a suit so as to leave a slightly higher one ultimately where you want it, by discarding blocking cards and by unusual finesses When a finesse, otherwise needless, is employed for such a purpose, it rises to the dignity of a fine play

The crisis of this hand came quickly West raked in three club tricks without a moment's hesitation and led the heart 4 to the K, whereupon the spade J was finessed successfully But West's failure to follow suit brought the declarer to a stop. To catch the outstanding spade K-10-4 would require getting into the dummy twice more for spade leads through the combination, and only one sure entry was in sight for the purpose, the diamond A Study of the situation disclosed one possibility. If West had the diamond Q, that suit could produce two entries So the declarer led the diamond 8 and finessed the J. That did the business. The spade 9 was led, covered by the 10 and Q, the diamond K was overtaken by the A and the spade 8 led. Seeing it was no use, East put on his 4, and South played low, letting the 8 win The A then dropped the K and the hand was finished with one more spade and two high hearts.

LAE DOCKS AND AIRPORT RIPPED IN ALLIED RAID

Ground Troops Mopping Up on Guadalcanal as U. S., Japs 'Jockey For Position.'

Zero fighter plane caught on the ground at Walahang was destroyed."

Medang and Finschhafen, west of Lae on the New Guinea coast, were heavily bombed.

Allied heavy bombers on a reconnaissance flight over Gasmata on the south shore of New Britain island, east of New Guinea, shot down one and damaged two enemy fighter planes which attempted to intercept the mission.

U. S., Jap Commands Jockey For Position

WASHINGTON — (INS) — Fresh and reinforced U. S. ground troops today are mopping up trapped Japanese forces on Guadalcanal amid battle signs that indicate the American and Nipponese high commands are "jockeying" for position in preparation for another major clash in the South Pacific.

With the exception of the U. S. aerial offensive against Japanese bases in the central Solomons and small scale land advances by American troops, there has been little action in that area since the Nipponese invasion armada was smashed in a sea-air battle in mid-November.

Whether Japan or the United States will precipitate the next great clash is not known, but the belief is growing in official circles that one side or the other soon may move to gain the advantage of surprise.

Since the American victory Nov. 13-15, U. S. reinforcements and supplies have been moving into Guadalcanal in a growing stream while the Japanese have done little except to complete an air base on New Georgia island, 180 miles to the northwest.

Two recent communiques have mentioned the fact that American ground troops are engaged in a "small scale" offensive against the Japanese garrison which has been cut off from supplies and reinforcements for nearly two months.

Significantly, the navy said that these land operations "against enemy outposts on Guadalcanal are progressing satisfactorily and several small enemy positions have been isolated."

RAF Bombers Hit Jap-Occupied Village

NEW DELHI — (INS) — Royal Air Force bombers inflicted considerable damage in an assault yesterday on the Jap-occupied village of Kyuaktan, on the Kaladan river northeast of Akyab, the British India command announced today.

Villages on Akyab Island also were attacked by the bombers while troop concentrations at Laungchaung were blasted.

British fighter planes carrying out patrol sorties machine-gunned anti-aircraft positions at the Akyab airdrome.

Bucyrus Committee of Five To Study Proposal For Project Costing $850,000.

BUCYRUS — Decision to place in the hands of a non-partisan citizens' committee of five the final word on proposed recommendations for improvements to the Bucyrus water system which are estimated to cost approximately $850,000, was approved Tuesday night at a city-wide meeting called by Mayor William F. Whiteamire.

Appointment of the committee was deferred until the next regular meeting of the city council, which will have the final judgment in the proposed improvement.

A survey by the H. P. Jones company of Toledo, completed in the last several months, brought recommendations for a new reservoir, estimated at $112,000; repairs to old reservoirs, $25,000; distribution repairs, $165,000; elevated water tank, $30,000; filtering repairs and replacements, $20,000, and metal mains to replace the present inadequate wooden mains, $500,000.

The survey was authorized upon receipt of a communication from state underwriters that the city faced increased insurance rates unless the water system is modernized.

The men indicted late yesterday, all civilians, included contractors' executives and employes and a construction equipment inspector for the navy.

the cross who was forgiven with the words: "Today shalt thou be with me in paradise."

"If Mr. Bell could be contacted today, after three days in this new life of holiness and happiness, he would not want to return to Mansfield. He undoubtedly has learned vastly more, in three days in the realm of vastly increased knowledge, than in his life span of 72 years," Rev. White said in comforting the friends and family.

The military guard of honor at the services included members of United Spanish War Veterans, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and American Legion, with a bugler from the American Legion sounding taps and a Veterans' squad firing a volley over the grave in the Mansfield cemetery.

CRESTLINE — Robert F. Beck was the new member elected to the board of the Crestline Automobile club at its annual meeting recently at the Roxy restaurant. J. L. Morrow and Albert Kroegel were re-elected.

In the reorganization of the board Magers was re-elected president; Vance Hoover, vice president, and J. B. McCarter, who was made secretary following the resignation of Miss Addie Blocker several months ago, was re-elected to that position.

LONDON — (AP) — Britain's air patrols against enemy submarines have become so effective that "no U-boat dares show itself on the surface within 300 miles of our shores," Air Minister Sir Archibald Sinclair said today.

Sir Archibald warned that London might again suffer heavy raids but declared it would survive the war "with its youth renewed."

punch presses and screw machines, can be salvaged and returned to production sometime next week, according to Lowell F. Hartman, vice president and secretary of the company.

The equipment was in the north annex of the building where damage resulted mostly from water, Hartman said. There is no basement under that part of the building.

The company has established temporary offices in the Ohio Textile company plant across the street and will do some of its assembly work there where small-er equipment will be set up.

The north end of the damaged building was being boarded up and repaired today so that it can be used next week, Hartman said. The firm plans to do additional work at its Lucas plant, stepping up operations there where a small staff has been employed.

Hartman said today that the basement room where the fire started contained a number of paper boxes which would have ignited easily from a lighted cigaret or match.

"If saboteurs were responsible, it's hard to understand why they would have chosen a time when three employes remained in the building where they could have put out the fire if they had seen it in time," Hartman said.

Virtually every industrial plant in the city has offered its help and the use of any available equipment until the firm is back in production Hartman added.

Companies which had placed orders with the Mansfield firm also have notified Hartman officials that they will make ample allowance for any delayed deliveries of goods, he said.

"It just goes to show you that you don't realize how many friends you have until you are really in trouble," Hartman asserted.

In the Russian campaign, Soviet dispatches said the Red armies had advanced 50 miles due north from the Georgievsk-Mineralnye Vody region in the Caucasus, smashed waves of savage Nazi counterattacks on the lower Don, and inflicted heavy punishment on the Germans southwest of Velikie Luki on the central (Moscow) front.

Red army headquarters meanwhile jibed at German claims that newly-captured Soviet prisoners were chiefly 15-year-old boys and men of 60 or more.

"It appears that the German army has sunk so low that it retreats, abandoning tanks, guns, trucks and ammunition dumps in the face of 15-year-old boys and old men wearing Red army greatcoats," the Russian command said.

French Leaders Make First Africa Contact

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA — (AP) — French troops in Tunisia attacking northwest of Kairouan captured two strategic heights yesterday, it was announced today.

A French spokesman described the gains as important. He said the captured heights were Jebel Haouh and Jebel Bou Davouss, which jut from the desert northeastward from Pichon.

Algiers, an Allied base for the Tunisian operations, had two air raid alerts last night.

(A Reuters dispatch from North Africa said direct contact had been established between Gen. Henri Honore Giraud's headquarters and the Fighting French of Brig. Gen. Jacques Leclerc—the first such liaison in the new phase of the African war.

(A message to General Giraud from General Leclerc, who has cleaned up the Fezzan desert area of central Libya in a drive northward from Lake Chad, was delivered by a liaison officer yesterday, the dispatch said.)

Link Royalists To Darlan's Murder

LONDON — (U.P.) — The British radio said today that French Royalists, trying to set up a monarchy in North Africa, were believed implicated in the assassination of Admiral Jean Francois Darlan. It quoted the Algiers radio.

The Democrats, Vichyites and Royalists were the three most active political groups in North Africa, and the Royalists, who have been trying to get back in power since the French revolution, strove for the most spectacular results, BBC said Algiers radio had broadcast.

United Press Correspondent C. R. Cunningham reported from Algiers several days ago that the French pretender, the Count of Paris, whom the Royalists would like to install as king of France, was walking around openly.

TAX PROBLEMS SIDETRACKING SECURITY STUDY

Pay-as-You-Earn and Need For More Revenue Filling Congress Calendars.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—Need for congressional action on immediate problems such as new taxes appeared likely to sidetrack for several months consideration of President Roosevelt's proposal for an expansion of the social security system to combat postwar economic hazards.

Chairman George (D.-Ga.) of the senate finance committee told reporters the calendars of committees which usually handle social security matters—ways and means in the house and finance in the senate—probably would be crowded for some time with primary legislation.

In this category, he placed pay-as-you-earn tax legislation, new revenue producing measures, an increase in the $125,000,000,000 public debt limitation and expiring executive authority to make reciprocal trade agreements.

The rising tempo of the new congress also produced these developments:

1. Determination by the house naval committee to study the entire American naval program since the war began to ascertain progress made in combatting the submarine menace.

2. Mounting hopes for early lifting of the American Federation of Musicians' ban on recorded music.

3. An appeal by Rep. Colmer (D.-Miss.) for prompt action on his bill to discourage strikers and industrial slowdowns by making participants immediately subject to military service and strike leaders liable to a fine and prison term.

4. Recommendation by Senator Butler (R.-Neb.) that the United States, once victory is won, acquire "all the thousands of islands in the Pacific," and establish mighty air bases so that "any local insurrection can be stopped before it gets a start."

Three-legged chicks? Yes. But a four-legged chick? Well, the Sherman Bowdens who have operated a hatchery on South Main street road for more than 40 years wouldn't have believed it before last Monday. Then, as Mrs. Bowden was looking over a new hatching she saw the unique little fowl. Two of the legs were in the expected places but the other pair had grown through the chick's breast—one protruding in front and the other out of the chick's back. In 43 years of hatching an estimated 5,000,000 chicks it is the first time the Bowdens have seen a chick with four legs. And Bowden began the hatchery business as a boy when he and his father built a home-made incubator that they heated with hot water. Mrs. Bowden will not speculate on whether the chick will live. "Twenty years ago," she says, "we had a three-legged chick but the hired man killed it. We plan to keep this one apart from the others and give it special care. Right now, at least, it has a healthy 'cheep'."

The picture shows the boys before and after they had received their military training. The pictures accompany an article dealing with the high school Victory corps throughout the country. In Mansfield, approximately 100 cadets have been trained so far and many of them are helping daily at Senior high in supervising the military training of both the boys and girls enrolled in the corps.

MOVE EITHER WAY APPEARS TROUBLESOME

Opposing Bill Would Rouse State's Anger; '44 Censure Seen In Favoring It.

(By International News Service)

COLUMBUS—The Bricker administration was placed on the horns of a dilemma today by an uprising in the state legislature, demanding that Ohio be placed in the central time zone and the clocks turned back to "slow time."

On the one hand, any opposition to the measure will wreak considerable havoc among the governor's tremendous personal popularity in his home state. On the other, if he accedes to the clamor and signs the time-change bill which now seems certain to pass the legislature, he may lay himself open in 1944 to charges that he failed to cooperate with the war effort.

Should he oppose the bill, even the Bricker-sponsored measure to remove the sales tax from restaurant meals and prescription medicines will fail to remove the sting to Ohioans.

The sales tax measure, which will remove all foods from the three per cent levy, is certain to be speeded to passage and signed into law. It will save Ohioans about $8,500,000 annually—but the legislators say that is just another item in comparison to the sentiment "back home" for a time change.

The governor dumped the controversial time change into the laps of the legislature when he asked them in his inaugural address to consider it solely on the basis of what will be best for the war effort. But in view of the opposition of WPB Chief Donald Nelson, who cited yearly savings in Ohio of 100,000,000 kilowatts of power, he cannot wash his hands of the matter entirely.

Bricker's power over the legislature was illustrated anew by the fact that, although the house is outspoken in its demand for a time change, it approved a resolution for delay by a voice vote. The overwhelmingly-Republican legislature does not desire to place Bricker on a spot, but neither does it wish to go against the wishes of its constituents.

Meanwhile the governor signed the partial appropriations bill, providing more than $79,000,000 for the operation of state departments for a maximum of six months or until the general appropriations bill becomes effective.

A house where gambling is legal—say in a state that permits it—knows it'll get the money anyway, given enough time. The only way you can beat the house is to have enough money to double your bet each time. You're bound to win eventually. But you have to be in a no-limit game—and the house always puts a limit on bets. See?"

For a "clean game," here's an argument: "You let a man play four or five times and then you pull some dirty work. You break him and distress him. But you play straight, and he wins once in a while, so he'll come back and tell his friends."

The "unseen percentage" in all the games favors the house. A nickel of every dollar spent at roulette goes to the house—the customers don't miss it (unless they're heavy losers) but the nickels mount up. That's the "unseen percentage."

Al says this isn't telling any trade secrets. And it won't hurt the gambling houses. It's like that traveling salesman in the story. Stranded in a small town, he asked a native if he knew of a game he could get in, to kill a few hours. The native said, "Sure, but it's crooked." So the salesman walked around, and pretty soon he found himself in the crooked game. He was cleaned. Back at the station he met the native again. "But didn't I tell you the game was crooked?" the native said. "Sure," said the fellow, "but it was the only game in town."

Four Men Kidnap Soldier, Search Army Dispatches

NORTH KINGSTON, R. I. —(AP)—Four men who held up an unarmed army dispatch rider at gunpoint and rifled through official army papers, only to return them with the remark that "It isn't here," still were at large today despite a state police dragnet.

There was no indication of what the men were seeking in their mysterious foray, nor any clue to their identity.

The men forced the soldier, Private Raymond L. Mosher of Springfield, Mass., to drive his small army truck for more than a mile, a gun at his head, to a secluded lane where they carefully examined the documents. Then they sped away in a small sedan.

State police, upon being notified of the hold-up posted guards on all highways leading out of the area and referred the case to the Federal Bureau of Investigation office in Providence.

ASKS FAIRS BE CONTINUED IN WAR TIME TO BOOST LIVESTOCK

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS—Fairs should be continued during wartime to promote improvement of livestock and farm products, Dean John F. Cunningham of the Ohio State university college of agriculture asserted today.

He told the Ohio Farm Managers association that agricultural expositions had an important role in contributing to the "continual improvement of the type and quality of livestock and farm products.

Breeders and growers with no place to show their prize products would become as disinterested as a football team with no one to compete against, Cunningham declared.

James Atterholt, secretary of the Ashland county fair, suggested that during the war more emphasis should be placed on agricultural and livestock exhibits and less on harness horse racing.

The association's livestock group is considering a resolution asking the legislature to provide funds for livestock premiums at local and county fairs.

B. P. Sandles, state junior fair manager, told the convention yesterday that fairs were educational institutions which had "no right to quit in time of war."

"There isn't a county agricultural society that wouldn't close its fair if it would help the war effort," he said, "but they have no right to abandon fairs after 100 years of service in Ohio."

The United States Trotting association elected G. W. Rittenour director of the trotting group's district one, comprising Ohio. Rittenour is president of the trotting association.

T. A. Billingsley, state racing commission member, was named to the fair managers' resolutions committee.

FINAL DAY

Friday Deadline For Getting Supplement Gas Orders.

Friday is the last day farm and commercial truckers can obtain supplemental gasoline certificates from their county gas rationing panels, H. A. Reichel, examiner from the Canton ODT office, said today.

Beginning Saturday, commercial truckers in Richland and Ashland counties will be required to file their appeals for supplemental gas with Reichel at the Chamber of Commerce rooms in the Farmers Bank building, Mansfield.

Appeals of farm truckers will be handled by the county Farm Transportation committee at county AAA headquarters at 781½ North Diamond street.

Reichel is at the Chamber of Commerce rooms Wednesdays and Thursdays from 8:30 a. m. to 5:30 p. m. The county Farm Transportation office is open daily.

Reichel pointed out that a number of applications filed several weeks ago by truckers were filled out improperly and truckers were unable to get sufficient gasoline to carry on their business.

Appeals are submitted to the Canton ODT office and, if granted the trucker receives a subcertificate permitting him to purchase more gasoline, Reichel said.

DEMAND PROBE OF BLACK MART

Two U. S. Agencies Ask For Chicago Investigation.

CHICAGO —(INS)— Two government agencies pressed for an investigation of the black market in meat in Chicago today.

A day after the office of price administration expressed concern over the situation, Donald E. Smith, assistant regional administrator of the food distribution administration, declared: "We have had reports of black market operations in meats here."

Packing house officials expressed the opinion that a large amount of the increased slaughter on farms is finding its way to black markets.

LAE DOCKS AND AIRPORT RIPPED IN ALLIED RAID

Ground Troops Mopping Up on Guadalcanal as U. S., Japs 'Jockey For Position.'

Zero fighter plane caught on the ground at Walahang was destroyed."

Medang and Finschhafen, west of Lae on the New Guinea coast, were heavily bombed.

Allied heavy bombers on a reconnaissance flight over Gasmata on the south shore of New Britain island, east of New Guinea, shot down one and damaged two enemy fighter planes which attempted to intercept the mission.

U. S., Jap Commands Jockey For Position

WASHINGTON —(ANS)— Fresh and reinforced U. S. ground troops today are mopping up trapped Japanese forces on Guadalcanal amid battle signs that indicate the American and Nipponese high commands are "jockeying" for position in preparation for another major clash in the South Pacific.

With the exception of the U. S. aerial offensive against Japanese bases in the central Solomons and small scale land advances by American troops, there has been little action in that area since the Nipponese invasion armada was smashed in a sea-air battle in mid-November.

Whether Japan or the United States will precipitate the next great clash is not known, but the belief is growing in official circles that one side or the other soon may move to gain the advantage of surprise.

Since the American victory Nov. 13-15, U. S. reinforcements and supplies have been moving into Guadalcanal in a growing stream while the Japanese have done little except to complete an air base on New Georgia island, 180 miles to the northwest.

Two recent communiques have mentioned the fact that American ground troops are engaged in a "small scale" offensive against the Japanese garrison which has been cut off from supplies and reinforcements for nearly two months.

Significantly, the navy said that these land operations "against enemy outposts on Guadalcanal are progressing satisfactorily and several small enemy positions have been isolated."

RAF Bombers Hit Jap-Occupied Village

NEW DELHI —(ANS)— Royal Air Force bombers inflicted considerable damage in an assault yesterday on the Jap-occupied village of Kyuaktan, on the Kaladan river northeast of Akyab, the British India command announced today.

Villages on Akyab Island also were attacked by the bombers while troop concentrations at Laungchaung were blasted.

British fighter planes carrying out patrol sorties machine-gunned anti-aircraft positions at the Akyab airdrome.

DECIDES FATE OF WATER PLAN

Bucyrus Committee of Five To Study Proposal For Project Costing $850.000.

BUCYRUS — Decision to place in the hands of a non-partisan citizens' committee of five the final word on proposed recommendations for improvements to the Bucyrus water system which are estimated to cost approximately $850,000, was approved Tuesday night at a city-wide meeting called by Mayor William F. Whitcamire.

Appointment of the committee was deferred until the next regular meeting of the city council, which will have the final judgment in the proposed improvement.

A survey by the H. P. Jones company of Toledo, completed in the last several months, brought recommendations for a new reservoir, estimated at $112,000; repairs to old reservoirs $25,000; distribution repairs $165,000; elevated water tank, $30,000; filtering repairs and replacements $20,000, and metal mains to replace the present inadequate wooden mains, $500,000.

The survey was authorized upon receipt of a communication from state underwriters that the city faced increased insurance rates unless the water system is modernized.

The men indicted late yesterday, all civilians, included contractors' executives and employes and a construction equipment inspector for the navy.

At Last Rites for Police Chief

The body of the late Thomas M. Bell is shown in the upper photograph as it lay in state in the flower decked room at Memorial building. Color guards of the American Legion are: L. A. Shreck, left, and Vern Castor. Hundreds of Mansfielders, as well as friends and acquaintances from all parts of the state, filed by the bier of the beloved police chief. The lower photograph shows the flag-draped coffin as it was carried down the steps of the building. Police department and military organization comrades stand in reverence as other associates bear the coffin towards its final resting place.

the cross who was forgiven with the words: "Today shalt thou be with me in paradise."

"If Mr. Bell could be contacted today, after three days in this new life of holiness and happiness, he would not want to return to Mansfield. He undoubtedly has learned vastly more in three days in the realm of vastly increased knowledge, than in his life span of 72 years," Rev. White said in comforting the friends and family.

The military guard of honor at the services included members of United Spanish War Veterans, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and American Legion, with a bugler from the American Legion sounding taps and a Veterans' squad firing a volley over the grave in the Mansfield cemetery.

NEW MEMBER

R. F. Beck Elected By Board of Crestline Club.

CRESTLINE—Robert F. Beck was the new member elected to the board of the Crestline Automobile club at its annual meeting recently at the Roxy restaurant. J. L. Morrow and Albert Kroegel were reelected.

The clubs annual report showed the organization holding its own in membership regardless of tire and gasoline rationing.

The meeting which opened with a 6:30 dinner was presided over by W. H. Maggs, president.

In the reorganization of the board, Maggs was reelected president; Vance Hoover, vice president, and J. B. McClaster, who was made secretary following the resignation of Miss Adire Blocker several months ago, was reelected to that position.

Admiral Horne's testimony, which will be on present operations of the navy, will be heard behind closed doors.

Air Minister Says U-Boats Can't Get Near British Isles.

LONDON —(AP)— Britain's air patrols against enemy submarines have become so effective that "no U-boat dares show itself on the surface within 300 miles of our shores," Air Minister Sir Archibald Sinclair said today.

Sir Archibald warned that London might again suffer heavy raids but declared it would survive the war "with its youth renewed."

punch presses and screw machines, can be salvaged and returned to production sometime next week, according to Lewis F. Hartman, vice president and secretary of the company.

The equipment was in the north annex of the building where damage resulted mostly from water, Hartman said. There is no basement under that part of the building.

The company has established temporary offices in the Ohio Textile company plant across the street and will do some of its assembly work there where smaller equipment will be set up.

The north end of the damaged building was being boarded up and repaired today so that it can be used next week, Hartman said. The firm plans to do additional work at its Lucas plant, stepping up operations there where a small staff has been employed.

Hartman said today that the basement room where the fire started contained a number of paper boxes which would have ignited easily from a lighted cigaret or match.

"If saboteurs were responsible, it's hard to understand why they would have chosen a time when three employes remained in the building where they could have put out the fire if they had seen it in time," Hartman said.

Virtually every industrial plant in the city has offered its help and the use of any available equipment until the firm is back in production, Hartman added.

Companies which had placed orders with the Mansfield firm also have notified Hartman officials that they will make ample allowance for any delayed deliveries of goods, he said.

"It just goes to show you that you don't realize how many friends you have until you are really in trouble," Hartman asserted.

tinued to be restricted by mud and rain.

In the Russian campaign, Soviet dispatches said the Red armies had advanced 50 miles due north from the Georgievsk-Mineralnye Vody region in the Caucasus, smashed waves of savage Nazi counterattacks on the lower Don, and inflicted heavy punishment on the Germans southwest of Velikie Luki on the central (Moscow) front.

Red army headquarters meanwhile jibed at German claims that newly-captured Soviet prisoners were chiefly 15-year-old boys and men of 60 or more.

"It appears that the German army has sunk so low that it retreats, abandoning tanks, guns, trucks and ammunition dumps in the face of 15-year-old boys and old men wearing Red army greatcoats," the Russian command said.

French Leaders Make First Africa Contact

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA —(AP)— French troops in Tunisia attacking northwest of Kairouan captured two strategic heights yesterday, it was announced today.

A French spokesman described the gains as important. He said the captured heights were Jebel Haoub and Jebel Bou Dabouss, which jut from the desert northeastward from Pichon.

Algiers, an Allied base for the Tunisian operations, had two air raid alerts last night.

(A Reuters dispatch from North Africa said direct contact had been established between Gen. Henri Honore Giraud's headquarters and the Fighting French of Brig. Gen. Jacques Leclerc—the first such liaison in the new phase of the African war.

(A message to General Giraud from General Leclerc, who has cleaned up the Fezzan desert area of central Libya in a drive northward from Lake Chad, was delivered by a liaison officer yesterday, the dispatch said.)

Link Royalists To Darlan's Murder

LONDON —(U.P.)— The British radio said today that French Royalists, trying to set up a monarchy in North Africa, were believed implicated in the assassination of Admiral Jean Francois Darlan. It quoted the Algiers radio.

The Democrats, Vichyites and Royalists were the three most active political groups in North Africa, and the Royalists, who have been trying to get back in power since the French revolution, strove for the most spectacular results, BBC said Algiers radio had broadcast.

United Press Correspondent C. R. Cunningham reported from Algiers several days ago that the French pretender, the Count of Paris, whom the Royalists would like to install as king of France, was walking around openly.
